LIBERALS SWEEP COUNTRY

Gains Made In B.C.

Following the pattern across Canada and the precedent set in the Provincial election June 15, British Columbians boomed the Liberal Party to top position federally at the expense of the C.C.F. and the Progressive Conservatives.

They tallied 11 of 18 seats, gaining four from the C.C.F. who previously held a dominant seven, and two from the Progressive Conservatives. Liberals and Progressive Conservatives each gained one of two new seats created since the last election.

The new standing in B.C.: Liberals, 11; C.C.F., 3; Progressive Conservatives, 3; Independent, 1.

Vancouver Island, resisting the mood of change, returned its three sitting members.

SMASHING VICTORY

Fisheries Minister R. W. Mayhew, who conceded defeat to Sir Henry Drayton at the last election until the active service vote slipped him into his seat, gave both his opponents a smashing defeat.

William Caird, C.C.F., lost his deposit, when he failed to gain at least half the 18,663 votes registered by Mr. Mayhew. Gordon A. Cameron was a poor second with 10,060.

By Mr. Mayhew's victory, British Columbia held to its sole Cabinet seat and reduced the probability that the fisheries ministry, vital to British Columbia, would go back to Eastern Canada to please Newfoundland.

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., chalked up his expected comfortable margin over Liberal William Poupore and C.C.F. R. M. Strachan. With 93 out of 109 polls heard from, Gen. Pearkes had won 15,586 votes, while Mr. Poupore, with 8,153, was fighting a losing battle for second place with Mr. Strachan, who had 8,166.

In Comox-Alberni, Independent J. L. Gibson remained the only Independent in British Columbia with a total of 9,987 as against 6,790 for C.C.F.-er C. Cameron at press time, when 24 polls of 135 were still to report.

Defeated in Burrard was Lt.-Col. Cecil Merritt, V.C., who lost out against winning Liberal J. L. McDougal.

In Burnaby-Richmond, Liberal Thomas Goode was 50 votes ahead of Mrs. Dorothy Steeves, president of the Provincial C.C.F., after a see-saw battle, which left final victory uncertain.

Incomplete results showed the C.C.F. holding three seats with O. L. Jones in Yale, Angus McInnis in Vancouver-East and former Independent C.C.F.-er H. W. Herridge in Kootenay West. They lost Cariboo to Liberal S. M. Murray, Skeena to Liberal E. T. Applewhaite and Kootenay East to Liberal J. A. Byrne.

Howard C. Green kept his seat, running in the new riding of Vancouver-Quadra, while Arthur Laing, former provincial Liberal president, gained Mr. Green's former constituency of Vancouver South.

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, who yesterday led the Liberal Party to an overwhelming victory in the Federal election. A rolling floodtide of pro-Government votes assured the Prime Minister of a big majority in the House of Commons. The Prime Minister won a dual triumph in Quebec as that Province voted solidly for Liberals, with both habitant and city dweller casting their ballots for the French-speaking leader.

Arsonists Blamed For Fires

A squad of special Provincial Police have been sent to the Kelowna area to investigate five fires in that area over the week-end which caused damage estimated at $50,000.

The fires were labeled definitely "the work of arsonists" by Provincial Fire Marshal Fred Gore.

Provincial Police Commissioner John Shirras intimated police were not dismissing the idea that the fires may have been caused by Doukhobors.

The Kelowna fires demolished a $30,000 Roman Catholic church which was dedicated less than a year ago; the Glenmore Irrigation District office, a hay barn, and 10,000 apple boxes.

The fifth fire damaged a Canadian National Railways high bridge between Kelowna and Glenmore. Beer bottles, filled with gasoline and each containing a fuse, were found near the bridge, which was saved by the Kelowna fire brigade en route to the Glenmore blazes.

All five fires flared within 35 minutes.

Coastal Passenger Ships Sold to Greek Company

Negotiations for the sale of Ss. Princess Alice and Ss. Princess Adelaide—veteran coastal passenger ships of the C.P.R.—have been finalized, and the ships are now owned by a Greek shipping firm, it was learned yesterday from reliable sources.

Representatives of the Greek shipping firm of Typaldos Bros. of Pireaus were first in Victoria early last February, and at that time made thorough investigations into the two ships.

Negotiations for the sale of the vessels, up to the present time, were hampered considerably due to international money exchange regulations. It was said yesterday that difficulties along that line had been solved, and the deal is now finalized.

Local C.P.R. officials have made no mention of the prices paid for the two ships.

It is understood that Spyro Typaldos, one of the Greek shipping firm partners, is due in Montreal tomorrow, and then will be in touch with head officials of the C.P.R. which has headquarters in that city.

Win Crushes P.C. Bid; C.C.F. Party Shattered

Party Leaders Give Comment

QUEBEC, June 27 (CP). — Prime Minister St. Laurent tonight told Canadians:

"I am naturally delighted at the result of my first general election as national leader of the Liberal Party.

"The decisive verdict you have rendered will strengthen the Government in carrying out the program we laid before you during the election campaign.

"We shall continue to strive resolutely for peace and prosperity, and, with peace and prosperity, for the fundamental aim of the Liberal party—which is to ensure to all Canadians, in every province, of every race and creed and class, and of all political parties, the closest possible approach to equality of opportunity and to a fair share of the bounties with which providence has endowed our favored land."

BUILD FOR FUTURE

At Ottawa George Drew called on Progressive Conservative supporters to start "building immediately for the future."

He said the Liberals had been returned by a "decisive majority" but "we will start immediately to build a strong party for the service of our country."

Mr. Drew said the Progressive Conservatives will support the Liberals "in everything they do which is to the advantage of our people and our country. We will oppose everything that should be opposed.

"The Progressive Conservative party has a great role to play in the future as it has in the past."

TO CONTINUE FIGHT

At Biggar, Sask., M. J. Coldwell, National C.C.F. leader, said his party, while lost in the Liberal sweep, will continue to fight for the policies in which it believes.

"The C.C.F. has not made the substantial gains we hoped for but I believe we have consolidated our support upon a solid foundation of intelligent co-operation for the building of a better Canada," Mr. Coldwell said.

From Ottawa Canadian labor union leaders congratulated the Liberal party and its leader, Prime Minister St. Laurent, on the election victory.

Percy Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress, expressed satisfaction with the result, adding that "as we have in the past, we will co-operate with the Government." He extended the T.L.C.'s "congratulations to the Prime Minister on the victory he has won."

STRONG MANDATE

A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, said "Mr. St. Laurent has been given a strong mandate by the people and is to be congratulated on the notable victory."

Middle-of-Road Course Voters' Emphatic Choice

By FRED McNEIL
Colonist Staff Reporter

From fog-shrouded Newfoundland to sunny Vancouver Island, Canadians last night stated emphatically they wanted middle-of-the-road government.

They disdainfully relegated the C.C.F. to the position of a minor group little more powerful than the Social Crediters and turned a cold shoulder on Progressive Conservative Leader George Drew, nicknamed "Gorgeous George" and billed by his party as "Canada's number one personality."

It looked as though Canadians had scanned the Liberal record of slow but steady increase in social security, a restraining hand on the ambitions of business, a foreign policy which led to the Atlantic Pact—and found the golden mean they wanted in troubled times.

From the start of the election campaign some observers were stating that the Progressive Conservatives were misjudging the mood of the people. Canadians were interested in fundamentals—food, jobs, security in their declining years and from the menacing world outside. Mr. Drew, they said, had little to offer but Canadair and some fancy old-time politicking. Some thought he bore the taint of "big business."

The record showed, at least, that in exchanging solid, colorless John Bracken, for colorful George Drew, the party lost a third of the seats it had four years ago.

It showed, too, that Socialism was dying a slow death. Liberals who started to inch back against the tide in the last provincial election in Saskatchewan, left the C.C.F. only four of the 18 seats they held in the last Federal House.

In British Columbia, another C.C.F. stronghold, the C.C.F., cut almost in half in the Provincial election of June 15, were cut to less than half yesterday.

Either Canadians were finished with socialism, or they wanted experiments only when times were tough.

In British Columbia, some Liberals were saying that former president Arthur Laing and his adherents were right early this year, when they stated the Coalition should be broken. At that time they were confident that, in the acid test of a three-way fight, the Liberals could win. Mr. Laing, who won his seat Federally, could last night point to the Liberal margin of 11 to 7 over all opposition.

Jack MacDougall, who fought the same way, turned Conservative Cecil I. Merritt, V.C., out of his stronghold in Vancouver-Burrard.

This will not make things any easier for Premier Byron I. Johnson, who is publicly pledged to continue the Coalition. When the quarreling starts in the Coalition caucus, he will have a tough time holding his followers in line. Supported by their overall majority, they'll want to lay down the law to Conservative Leader Herbert Anscomb—and that is exactly the kind of thing Mr. Anscomb doesn't like.

Quebec Gives Solid Support

By GEORGE KITCHEN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

The Liberal Government rode back into office yesterday in an unprecedented Atlantic-to-Pacific election sweep which all but eliminated the C.C.F. as a national party and shattered a Progressive Conservative bid for power.

Repeating their string of general election victories which began in 1935, the Liberals exceeded the record of 178 members elected to the 245-member house of 1945.

Vote by vote, riding by riding, hour by hour, from the Eastern seaboard through the seven time-zones to the Yukon, the Government built up a seat-total so impressive that it assured Prime Minister St. Laurent of the greatest Parliamentary majority in history.

OPPONENTS FLATTENED

The towering avalanche of Liberal ballots flattened the Government's two main opponents—the C.C.F. and the Progressive Conservative Parties—and reduced their Parliamentary strength far below what it was in the last House.

For further election news and pictures, see Pages 6, 7 and 8.

Only the Social Credit Party, strongly entrenched in Alberta for years, appeared to be even coping with the Liberal tide. It appeared they might hold ten of Alberta's 17 seats. They commanded 13 seats in the last Commons.

Basically, the Liberal victory turned on all-out support from Quebec, where the Progressive Conservatives had hoped—and expected—to make deep inroads with the support of the Provincial Government of Maurice Duplessis. The Habitant preferred to vote for Quebec's native son, Louis Stephen St. Laurent, the first French-speaking Prime Minister since Sir Wilfrid Laurier, another Quebecer with vote-getting magic.

UNEXPECTED TURN

But the extent of the Liberal win was widened with an unexpected turn to the Liberals in the historically-Conservative Province of Ontario. There the Liberals won not only their own seats but also a number which were in the Progressive Conservative column in the last House.

In Prairie Saskatchewan, seat of a C.C.F. Provincial Government since 1945, the Government marked up heavy gains. Here, where the C.C.F. held 18 Federal seats in the last House the Liberals captured 13 and led in two others in the late tabulations. The C.C.F. won four and the Progressive Conservatives one. It appeared that the C.C.F. would come out of that province with only four seats.

Both Mr. St. Laurent and George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, won personal victories in their home ridings.

But John Bracken, the man who went into the Progressive Conservative leadership in 1942 and brought them 66 seats in the 1945 general election, suffered personal defeat. He lost to J. E. Mathews, Liberal member of the last House, in Manitoba's Brandon riding. Mr. Bracken gave up the Progressive Conservative leadership last Fall.

Liberal Cabinet Ministers won their individual contests with clockwork-like regularity.

Key Australian Services Reduced By Coal Strike

SYDNEY, Australia, June 27 (CP).—New cuts in vital services were announced today a few hours after Australia's 24,000 coal miners left the pits in a wages-and-hours dispute.

All mining and transport of coal ceased as the general strike took effect on one of the coldest Mid-winter days in 11 years.

Heating of houses and offices was banned. The temperature dropped to 39 degrees. Unemployment reached the 500,000 mark, and thousands more are expected to be thrown out of work by industries forced to close because of lack of coal.

The Sydney housewife has only two 90-minute periods each day to cook with gas or electricity. Hospitals are admitting only urgent and maternity cases.

The New South Wales Cabinet decided to cut country train services to 15 per cent of normal. Already operations are at 50 per cent.

Legislation to be brought before the New South Wales Legislature tomorrow will seek drastic wartime powers, similar to those when Australia feared Japanese invasion, to deal with the emergency.

SHIPS HELD UP

Many ships were held up because they could not fill their coal bunkers. At least eight wheat ships may be unable to load if power to the grain elevators is shut off.

New South Wales was hardest hit because the strike caught Sydney with only enough coal to supply gas three hours daily for a week and to supply electricity on a restricted basis for ten days.

The miners' union, which has a strong Communist element, is demanding a 30 shillings ($4.85) weekly pay increase and a five-hour reduction in the work week to 35 hours. The Government insists the union must abide by arbitration machinery for settling its claims.

Assassination Brings Pledge Of Punishment

SEOUL, June 27 (INS).— South Korean President Syngman Rhee promised in a voice that shook with sobs today that the man responsible for the assassination of Rightist Leader Kim Koo would be punished.

Rhee denounced the "savage" shooting of the 77-year-old Independence leader, one of Rhee's fiercest political opponents, and added:

"This act injures the country and the people."

The slayer, identified as Ahn Do Hi, a 33-year-old lieutenant in the Korean Army, was arrested by police guarding Kim's home immediately after he fired four shots into the head and body of the former president of the Korean Government in exile.

Rhee's statements, broadcast to the nation, were echoed by hundreds of Kim's followers crowded around his palatial Seoul residence in tearful mourning for the death of their leader.

Kim, who spent years in China at head of the Government in Exile, attempted to form a provisional Korean Government after Japan's defeat.

He broke with Rhee over the question of Korean partition, which he bitterly opposed, and he lost political stature when he boycotted the United Nations elections May 10th establishing the new republic.

MINIMIZE DIFFERENCES

Recently, however, he was reported ready to heal his breach with Rhee and the President in his broadcast today minimized their political differences.

As Rhee spoke hundreds of Seoul's residents paraded through the streets carrying banners in which they demanded that the United Nations hold elections in North Korea.

The tension in the capital was such that authorities imposed a 10 p.m. curfew as a precautionary measure.

Railman Dies In Collision

PILOT BUTTE, Sask., June 27 (CP). — One railwayman was killed and two others injured early Sunday when a Canadian Pacific Railway freight train rammed the rear of another freight near this Saskatchewan village ten miles east of Regina.

Dead is Harvey E. Butler, 35-year-old conductor, of Moose Jaw, Sask.

Trainman Anthony Cahsky, 36, Moose Jaw, is in "fair" condition in Regina Hospital after losing one leg. George Dempster of Regina was reported only slightly injured.

Oil Well Fire Under Control

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Calif., June 27 (INS).—Fire that had been raging since Friday morning in an ocean-front oil and gas well was brought under control today.

The flames were extinguished with sea water forced into the casing under high pressure.

The well is owned by Standard Oil Company of California. The fire destroyed the drilling rig, causing damage estimated at $200,000.

"Special Advance Poll" Just One Voting Problem

OTTAWA, June 27 (CP).—The story of a man who held his own special advance poll was told today as the voting problems of the country kept right on pouring into the lap of Canada's chief electoral officer even as the ballots dropped.

The tempo, heavy for months, showed no letup for Jules Castonguay and his staff. But one of them took time out to tell about the deputy returning officer in a certain village who was convicted by his neighbors that he should allow some of them to vote early because they would be out of town election day.

There was nothing intentional underhand about the act, the official said. The D.R.O. simply thought it was the best way to handle things under the circumstances.

The returning officer for the district notified Ottawa and asked what he should do. He was told to cancel all the votes and send them to Ottawa, to supply the D.R.O. with new material and inform him to withhold voting privileges until today.

MANY CALLS

There was no provision in the village for an advance poll for commercial travelers and transport workers, the only persons permitted to vote in advance.

The Ottawa electoral headquarters got a steady stream of phone calls and telegrams during the day, mainly to check on the right of certain people to vote as far away as Regina. There also were queries about the legal provision which gives employees three hours off to vote.

Some men thought their firms should give them three working hours off with pay. Actually the Elections Act provides merely that each person should have three hours clear to vote. If his normal work day ends three hours before polls close that is enough.

NOT FINISHED YET

Nelson Castonguay, son of the chief, kept check on the situation provoked when a Newfoundland Ranger was iced in before he could deliver ballot boxes for some 300 Labrador people.

The R.C.A.F. agreed to take them in but late today no word has been received about delivery.

The C.E.O.'s staff will be right back at it tomorrow, regardless of the result. Ahead of them are the preparation of payment for tens of thousands of election workers, and official preparation of the results in every riding.

Liner Queen Mary Warned of Mine

SOUTHAMPTON, England, June 27 (Reuters).— The liner Queen Mary, homeward bound with 2,000 passengers, was warned by radio last night that fishermen had sighted a mine some miles off her course into Cherbourg, Captain G. E. Cove said when the liner docked here today.

Special lookout men were posted, but neither they nor the liner's radar found any trace of the mine.

Late today shipping was warned that a floating mine had been reported off the Kent coast, east of Dover.

Japanese Return Home As Communists

MAIZURU, Japan, June 27 (INS).—Two thousand khaki-clad Japanese war prisoners fresh from Siberia set foot on their home soil of Japan today in the belief that they are "the vanguard of a Communist army."

The former soldiers, well indoctrinated in the Communist ideology, are the first detachment of Soviet-held Japanese prisoners to return to Japan since Russia discontinued the repatriation program a year and a half ago.

"LITTLE CHANCE"

In Tokio, the Communist newspaper Akahata which lays down the party line said the soldiers give the impression "Japanese who did not conform to the (Soviet) ideology stood little chance of being repatriated."

The prisoners sang the Communist anthem "Internationale" and other songs as they disembarked. For many of them it was the first sight of their homeland in more than a decade.

A spokesman for the homecoming soldiers, all of whom looked well fed and healthy despite their years in Soviet custody, said they were pledged to join the Japanese Communist party.

Other prisoners made similar statements, adding:

"We are the vanguard of a Communist army landing in the face of the enemy."

"WELL INDOCTRINATED"

Japanese officials were stunned by the obvious thoroughness of the Communist indoctrination of the prisoners. Maizuru Mayor Shuji Yanagida called the phenomenon an "evident Soviet attempt" to sway Japanese domestic politics "by sending in Communist reinforcements." United States occupation authorities commented tersely that all the repatriates seemed "very well indoctrinated in Communism."

A prisoner spokesman said all the 95,000 Japanese held in Siberia will voluntarily join the Communist party when they come home "in order to create our own new world in Japan."

A Communist-operated daily newspaper for the prisoners declared 105,000 Japanese remain in Soviet custody and that 95,000 will be returned before the end of the year. The paper said the other 10,000 must stay behind because they "harbor mistaken ideologies" or because they are war criminals.

Pair Escape Plane Crash

KELSO, Wash., June 27 (INS).—A Vancouver, B.C.-bound pair of flyers escaped with cuts and shock early Monday as their plane clipped through the fence at Kelso Airport on landing.

They were Miss Arleen Bentley, 24, Toronto, and Pilot William I. Lenahan, 26, Portland. Neither was hospitalized but their plane was shorn of its undercarriage and propeller tips in the freak accident.

Cross-Examination of Alger Hiss Discloses Discrepancies in Defence

NEW YORK, June 27 (INS).—Relentless cross-examination of Alger Hiss produced discrepancies today in his defence against perjury charges.

The prosecution brought off differences between Hiss' testimony on the witness stand about his relationship with ex-Communist Whittaker Chambers and statements he had made previously.

The day's questioning in New York Federal Court also brought out that [illegible] F. Byrnes, then secretary of state, called Hiss in and asked about rumors that he was a Communist.

"I AM NOT GUILTY"

Hiss began his cross-examination battle of wits with Prosecutor Thomas F. Murphy after he had wound up direct testimony with the firm declaration:

"I am not guilty."

Mrs. Hiss followed closely every word uttered by her husband from the witness stand. During the day, Defence Counsel Lloyd Paul Stryker revealed that Mrs. Hiss also will testify.

Discrepancies in testimony by Hiss came about this way:

Murphy drew from Hiss the specific statement he never saw ex-spy courier Chambers after late May or early June of 1936. Then he submitted in evidence an assignment of title to an old Ford from Hiss to Chambers. It was dated July 23, 1936.

NO RECOLLECTION

Hiss maintained he has "no independent recollection of signing the title," although he acknowledged it bears his signature. The title was signed in Hiss' office and notarized by W. Marvin Smith, who later committed suicide.

The prosecutor also showed that Hiss' testimony before the House Un-American Activities Committee last Summer was at variance at least six times with what he has said during the trial about the car.

Murphy quoted Hiss as telling House investigators that he had another car when he arranged to give Chambers the Ford. Murphy then asked:

"NO OTHER CAR"

"Was it a fact that you had another car at the time you made arrangements to give Chambers the Ford?"

"No," Hiss replied.

Except that the Government is attempting to question Hiss' credibility at the defence sought to question Chambers—the discrepancies appeared to have little direct relation to the indictment.

Hiss is charged with lying to a Federal Grand Jury when he denied he saw Chambers after January 1, 1937, or that he gave Chambers secret State Department documents for transmission to Russian agents.

U.S. Airmen Die in Invasion

MIAMI, Fla., June 27 (INS).—Three American airmen were killed in the Dominican Republic last week following an abortive attempt to invade the island republic, it was announced today.

The United States State Department disclosed that the three airmen, believed to be the crew of an American-owned Catalina plane which flew men and arms for the reported invasion, were killed early on the morning of June 23.

Their deaths followed by four days an attempted landing at Puerto Plata, on the southeastern coast of the republic.

Rafael Trujillo, President of Dominica, announced June 20 that two amphibious planes loaded with men and arms had landed near Puerto Plata. The planes were sunk by a Government gunboat and all "insurgent forces" were killed, the Government announcement said.

Counterfeiters Captured In U.S. Capital

WASHINGTON, June 27—(INS).—Secret Service agents arrested four men and a woman today on charges that they counterfeited $100,000 in $20 Federal Reserve notes at a plant two blocks from the White House.

The purported counterfeiting establishment was across a small park from the ornate marble structure that houses the World Bank.

Treasury Secretary Snyder, who announced the arrests, said that members of the ring were seized after they made a swing around the nation by plane to pass the bogus currency.

Snyder identified those arrested as Eugene H. Creighton, 25; Walter W. Kibwell, 30; William F. Hughes, 28; Arthur M. Bebar, 35 and Hughes' wife, Josephine, 25. He said that all are residents of the District of Columbia.

MOST RECOVERED

The secretary reported that all but $2,000 of the counterfeit notes have been recovered.

The prisoners were charged with manufacturing and passing counterfeit bills. A treasury official declared that they probably would be arraigned within the next 24 hours.

Snyder asserted that the gang finished making the notes early in April and immediately launched an air tour to get rid of them.

QUICK ROUND-UP

After going to St. Louis, the alleged counterfeiters went to Kansas City, Omaha, Memphis, Dallas, Fort Worth, Atlanta, Richmond, Baltimore and back to Washington.

Snyder asserted that most of the bills were passed at theatres and ice cream parlors. He added that about 15 notes were passed in Washington. The secretary said:

"The cleaning up of the ring came quickly when the tour ended in Washington.

Snyder disclosed that confidential information, "coupled with descriptions, enabled the Secret Service to round up all of the suspects in a 24-hour period."

Nine Experts To Take Over B.C. Manhunt

MISSION, B.C., June 27 (INS).—Plans were laid today to "smoke out" Ivar Johnson, 60-year-old crazed farmer believed hiding in an abandoned mine shaft after killing two women in a road-widening argument five days ago.

Nine woodsmen were deputized today to take over the manhunt from troops called from Chilliwack Barracks to protect farm families from possible new attacks by the heavily-armed gunman.

Provincial Police Inspector Alex McDonald said that if anyone can smoke out the slayer in the remote area, the nine new deputies can do it. All are familiar with the many abandoned mine shafts in the region five miles from Mission.

Johnson shot and killed Mrs. Marie Lindberg, 60, and Mrs. George Barrett, 45, then burned his house and fled into the bush.

RANCHER KILLED

KAMLOOPS, B.C., June 27 (CP).—W. P. Cochran of Dartfield, 61-year-old rancher and game guide, was dragged to death Sunday by an unbroken horse. When he roped the animal on his ranch the lariat caught around his wrist, and he was dragged nearly 200 yards through a stump-filled field.

True Western Hospitality Here Says Visiting Chief of Police

Victorians are just as friendly as Prairie people.

You can take it from Albert Milne, Saskatoon police chief now holidaying at the Douglas Hotel with Mrs. Milne, that Western hospitality doesn't stop at the Rockies.

He admits, however, that he has spent most of his time here visiting some of the thousands of Saskatchewan people who have moved West.

Mr. and Mrs. Milne have been coming to the Coast at intervals for holidays ever since 1929. On each trip they found a few more of their friends waiting to welcome them.

The chief joined the Saskatoon force in 1909, a year after coming to Canada from Scotland. In that time he has seen the force grow from seven to 50 men and the population from some 10,000 to 50,000.

Increased size has multiplied police problems. Breaking and entering, theft and shoplifting have increased somewhat, and lately car-stealing has been especially troublesome. An alleged car-stealing ring has just been broken.

As Chief Milne sees it, Victoria motorists seem relatively law-abiding, but they drive a little faster than in his town.

TO MEET ON FIRES

Saanich council will hold a special meeting tonight to discuss the contentious fire protection issue, brought forcibly to the council's attention last week by a strong delegation of Ward Six ratepayers.

It is expected the council will endeavor to come up with a solution to the problem of inadequate fire protection. Fire Chief Joseph Law, whose department has been criticized by ratepayers, will attend the meeting.

CHAMBER MEETING

Directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce will hold a regular meeting this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the chamber board room, reports Managing-Secretary George Warren.

AGAIN PROTEST RENTS

Raising of rents of city-owned housing units on Topaz Avenue was protested again yesterday by the Victoria Labor Council (C.C.L.). An initial protest was made earlier this month.

In a letter to City Council, E. W. Haw, secretary-treasurer of the Labor Council, said he had been instructed to register a second protest "as strong as possible" against the rent hike, "inasmuch as these suites are only temporary lodging for emergency cases."

City Council at its meeting last week reaffirmed its decision to raise rents on the housing units from $20 to $23 per month.

TO MOVE OFFICES

The city was notified yesterday by G. Austin, secretary of the Board of Cemetery Trustees of Greater Victoria, that the board's offices were being moved to Royal Oak Burial Park. The board had been using facilities in the City Collector's office to conduct its business.

The cemetery board asked for permission to continue using one of the City Hall committee rooms for board meetings.

REGISTERS COMPLAINT

Placement of parking restriction signs on parking meters was criticized in city police court yesterday by a Sidney businessman charged with parking on a section of Fort Street between 4 and 6 p.m.

James C. Anderson, who pleaded guilty to the charge, told Magistrate H. C. Hall the small signs should be placed on the street side so drivers would see them when parking. By installing them only on the pavement side, he contended they were not obvious enough.

The magistrate said he thought the complaint was worth mentioning to police officials, and gave the motorist a suspended sentence.

LICENCE HIKE PROTEST

First objection to the raising of city trades license fees was made increases in license fees for rooming house.

In a letter to Mayor George, the increases in licence fees for rooming houses were called "outrageous" by M. Richardson and I. Iverson, 1024 McClure Street.

"We think you have overlooked the fact that Government ceiling prices have not been removed from rooming houses in business before 1941," the city was advised. "We still are receiving depression rents on most of our rooms."

The rooming house operators objected to rooming houses being classed in the same group as apartment houses because "revenue from apartments is much greater than from rooming houses."

Council raised the license fees for rooming houses, apartment blocks and hotels from 50 cents to $1.50 per room for each six months. In their letter the rooming house operators said they would not have objected if it had been increased only from 50 cents to 75 cents per room.

VANDALS HALT WORK

Vandals have caused work stoppages at Manning's Lumber Mills, A. H. Calvert, superintendent, reported to city police yesterday.

He explained that recently the "set rope" on a log carriage has been partially cut, causing it to snap during operation. Closure of the plant for eight hours is required every time the rope has snapped.

Police are investigating.

TOURIST CARS LOOTED

Burglary of tourists' cars parked outside the Empress Hotel has drawn a protest from an American visitor.

Mrs. George S. Shearer of Pennsylvania informed the Chamber of Commerce the thefts give her good reason to warn tourists to keep away from British Columbia.

Chamber officials have informed the complainant that protective parking facilities are available and that signs giving this information are displayed in the hotel. Her letter also was referred to city police.

Colorful Ceremony Held in Beacon Hill Park

Many hundreds of Victorians gathered at Beacon Hill Park Sunday afternoon to witness impressive and colorful annual "I Am a Canadian Day" ceremony, which did much to promote people's attitude toward their privileges and responsibilities of Canadian citizenship. Pageant of nationalities was highlight of ceremony, and its participants are seen in above photo. Left to right, and nationalities represented are: Gloria Cranmer, native Indian Marjorie Ledingham, Canadian-Scottish-Irish; Marie Gillard, Newfoundland; Kenneth Lee, Chinese; Elaine Jennings (kneeling), appearing as beaver; Grace Adams, Canadian; Natalie Bergstraesser, Estonian; Priscilla McNeil, Scottish; Knut Boeskau, Scandinavian (hidden from view behind Miss McNeil); Mrs. Lynn Richards, Welsh; and Miss Karen Bjornsfelt, in costume of Canadian United Empire Loyalists.

Hundreds Assemble in Park Sunday As Ceremonies Mark "Canadian Day"

Enthusiasm and patriotism filled the hearts of many hundreds of Victorians — young and old — who gathered at Beacon Hill Park Sunday afternoon to witness the third annual "I am a Canadian Day" ceremony.

I.O.D.E. standard bearers, each carrying Union Jacks, led the procession of speakers and special guests who assembled on the pavilion platform. Mayor Percy E. George, acting as chairman, welcomed everyone to the program and pointed out how fortunate were the people of Canada, who were "living in a free country, where such a spontaneous demonstration of loyalty could be held."

TRACES PROGRESS

After the singing of "O God Our Help in Ages Past," Mayor George introduced Forrest L. Shaw, president of the Victoria Men's Canadian Club, who traced events in Canada's history and noted that Canadians had gained independence and increased responsibilities while still retaining close association with the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Norman Parkins, representing the city's Junior Chamber of Commerce, spoke briefly on the duty of all Canadians in so far as voting was concerned.

The speaking phase of the colorful program was followed by a significant pageant held under the direction of H. S. Hurn, director of community drama for the province. Characters of the pageant were nine young Canadians, symbolic figures depicting the Dominion, and the Canadian beaver.

SOME IN COSTUME

The young Canadians — some of whom were in traditional costumes of their native lands — came forward in turn and in their own words told of their ancestry and what it meant to them to become Canadian citizens.

"Canada" then warned them of the responsibilities which citizenship involved. The pageant concluded with the entire assembly and audience joining voices in a pledge of loyalty to their country. Miss Grace Adams appeared as "Canada."

Others participating in the pageant included Miss Elaine Jennings, Mrs. Lynn Richards, Misses Karen Bjornsfelt, Marie Gillard, Marjorie Ledingham, Natalie Bergstraesser, Gloria Cranmer, Priscilla McNeil, Mr. Knut Moeskau and Kenneth Lee.

The park band, under the direction of H. Bigsby, provided music for the occasion.

Among special guests attending the ceremony were: Mrs. H. R. Milburn, president of the Native Daughters' organization; Mrs. W. H. Wilson, representing the Women's Canadian Club; and James Givens, representing the Sons of Canada. Many other organizations also sent representatives.

The ceremony was organized by the Local Council of Women, and sponsored by the Men's and Women's Canadian Clubs, the Canadian Daughters' organization, and the Sons of Canada.

Antique Chest, Painting Bequeathed to Victoria

The City of Victoria falls heir to an antique Spanish Armada Chest, a valuable oil painting and a cash bequest of $1,000 according to the $243,309 will of Mrs. Harriet Susan Sampson, probated yesterday in Supreme Court.

most prominent citizens and is link with its early history, died at her home, "Molton Combe," 1003 Newport Avenue, last May 15.

Her father, Hon. Joseph Despard Pemberton was the first colonial surveyor and engineer for the Hudson's Bay Company here. He arrived in Victoria in 1851. Mrs. Sampson, widow of the late William Curtis Sampson, was born here in 1871.

PRICELESS COLLECTION

The bequest to the city of Victoria was part of a priceless collection of antique and exotic objects of art that will be scattered under the terms of her will.

Other items include Chippendale furniture, a Medici "Madonna," a Charles I day bed, Italian Renaissance furniture and at least one 16th Century Norwegian chair.

A 150-piece pewter collection worth $1,750 was bequeathed to the mayor and citizens of South Molton. By her original will the Spanish Armada chest was to go to them as well but by a codicil she left that chest to Victoria.

BEQUESTS TO CHARITY

Active during her life in many service and charity organizations, Mrs. Sampson left bequests of $100 to two branches of the I.O.D.E. and to the Protestants Orphan's Home, Queen Alexandra Solarium, of which she was past director benefitted by a $1,000 bequest. Balance of her cash estate went to nieces and nephews who get some $38,000 each.

Victorians Stage "Run" On New Silver Dollars

They're nicknaming them quick-silver dollars.

And it's dollars to doughnuts you won't be able to find even one of the new "Newfoundland" silver "cartwheels" in a Victoria bank today.

Local bank officials reported yesterday the silver coins turned out by the Canadian mint to commemorate the entry of the tenth province into Confederation, were disappearing fast, as souvenir-seeking citizens clamored for more of the shiny cartwheels.

"The trouble is," officials commented. "The big dollars will start rolling back into the banks again in a few weeks."

SWAMPED WITH THEM

"Last time we were swamped with them."

A quick check on most of the banks in the city yesterday disclosed a real run on the new dollars.

"People were coming in and asking for $100 or $200 worth," one banker stated. "At that time we didn't even have one of them left."

Most banks were planning to put in orders for more of the new coins to meet the unprecedented demand. But the idea was also prevalent that it might just be looking for trouble.

"If they start coming back in they'll be a drag on the market," bankers commented.

The fact that the Government had issued only 300,000 of the silver dollars for the whole of Canada might mean that the coins would stay out of circulation, it was admitted.

"But if they've discovered a dollar that won't eventually be spent—it'll be the first in history," one bank official remarked.

Drivers Draw Fines in Court For Various Traffic Violations

Various driving offences predominated in city police court yesterday.

Wallace Stevenson, 1745 Amphion Street, was fined $35 or in default six days in jail after he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving carelessly Saturday on Lee Avenue. Claude L. Harrison, city prosecutor, said the accused was the driver of a car which struck a parked car. Stevenson told Magistrate H. C. Hall that his car's steering mechanism was faulty.

SIMILAR CHARGE

On a similar charge, Robert J. Baldwin, 1259 Colville Road, pleaded guilty and was fined $35, in default six days in jail, and had his driver's licence suspended. Constable Deans Blackstock testified that the accused struck a car on Gorge Road while driving on the wrong side of the street.

Charged with dangerous driving, Ernest M. Johnson, 438 John Street, pleaded guilty and was fined $50 with a two-month licence suspension. Constable Norman Bath said Johnson was involved in an accident on Government Street Saturday. Two persons, he testified, were injured in the crash.

DRIVER REMANDED

Wilbert A. Drader, 3628 Douglas Street, facing a dangerous driving charge arising out of an accident at the intersection of Fort and Quadra Streets May 14, was remanded to September 6. The city prosecutor said the long adjournment was necessary because Mrs. Eleanor Davenport, 1174 Hewlett Place, still is in critical condition in hospital as a result of the accident.

William H. Brown, 1523 Amphion Street, charged with driving a car while intoxicated June 22, was remanded to July 28 for trial after Joseph McKenna, Brown's lawyer, entered a plea of not guilty.

Lee Sing, Blair Avenue, pleaded not guilty to a charge of failing to pull to the curb at the sound of an approaching siren. He was remanded to this morning for trial.

MAKES NO PLEA

In Saanich police court, John G. Allison, 1679 McRae Avenue, was charged with driving a car while intoxicated Saturday night. He was remanded without plea to Thursday at the request of his counsel, James J. Proudfoot. The accused is out on $100 bail. Charge arose out of an accident at the intersection of Sayward Road and Marine Drive.

Liberals Sweep Twenty-First Parliament

CANADIAN electors returned Prime Minister St. Laurent and the Liberal Party to power yesterday with an overwhelmingly strong majority over all other parties in the House. The Progressive Conservative bid failed badly, and at midnight it was clear that Mr. Drew and his supporters would be the official Opposition with a much-reduced following. The C.C.F. at that hour had a slight edge on the Social Crediters for a thin third place; with a handful of Independents elected and six seats then doubtful. The sharp decline in Progressive Conservative strength and the virtual obliteration of the C.C.F. paved the way for the Liberal landslide that followed, to become the chief feature of the election.

Vancouver Island distributed its three seats with strict impartiality. Hon. R. W. Mayhew, Liberal, won a smashing victory in Victoria, with doubt as to his opponents' deposits. Major-General G. R. Pearkes, V.C., had a two-to-one victory in Nanaimo. In Comox-Alberni, the former Independent member, Mr. J. L. Gibson, won handily over his C.C.F. opponent. While British Columbia's 18 seats had not been completely reported, Liberals had taken the majority of those reaching final tallies.

The results left the political situation in Canada with three marked questions. What now will hold the Liberal Party in check, with a depleted and divided Opposition and virtual domination in the new House? Will the Progressive Conservatives be able to reform under Mr. Drew and prepare for a comeback four years hence? Is the C.C.F. on the way down and out, or is it merely down until the next recession in the economic picture? One thing seemed certain, Mr. St. Laurent and his Cabinet have been given an embarrassing, and unhealthy, degree of power in Canada's Twenty-First Parliament.

Rooming-House Fires Show Serious Increase

VICTORIA in the past six months has had far too many fires in rooming-houses and dwellings tenanted by more than one family. In the city itself there have been 21 such outbreaks involving loss of property, and many more incipient outbreaks in tenements, apartments and hotels which were extinguished before loss was caused. One person died in a boarding-house fire, and save for the element of luck playing a part the loss of life in several instances could have been heavy.

In recent years many homes in the city originally designed for one family have been converted to apartment and rooming-house use. Most of these old buildings are of frame construction, tinder-dry and needing only a spark to send them up in flames. The fact that almost all of them are of more than one story frequently delays discovery of fire and increases the difficulty and danger of clearing the buildings.

Recent fires cannot all be traced to carelessness by the occupants. In the conversion of old dwellings into apartments and rooming-houses the multiplication of heating and cooking appliances creates a serious danger if fire precautions are inadequate. Electrical circuits too often are overloaded; and there are still people foolish enough to put a penny behind the fuse instead of heeding the warning of repeated blow-outs.

When several families are housed under one roof the dangers of fire cannot be eliminated; but they can be minimized by rigid inspection and insistence on adequate precautions. The large number of fires since the start of the year suggests that sterner measures in that direction may be necessary.

Casey at the Bat—and the Sun

IT may be a sad commentary, but North Americans seem indifferent to their astronomers, in spite of Professor Vorontozoff-Velyciminov's assertion that by predicting the eventual destruction of the solar system these gentlemen are bent on creating a state of utter pessimism on this continent. There is pessimism when Casey at the bat fails to explode as expected. 'tis true, but if the Moscow professor were to leave his native land and sit in the bleachers when, say, the Brooklyn Dodgers or the Victoria Athletics were in action, he would find it totally unrelated to any future explosion nature may have in mind for the sun.

If then American astronomers are indeed preaching capitalism when they forecast heavenly disturbances, as the Soviet professor says, they are singularly ineffective; almost as much so, in fact, as the Russian astronomer himself if by his criticism he hopes to awaken North Americans to their sad state. No doubt things are better ordered in Russia, where concern for ideology is making a mockery of all sane values, the subservience of the sun to capitalism being merely one more manifestation of the weirdness.

One thing such discussions do is to bring astronomy down from starry-eyed heights to the level of a moron, for only a moron would swallow the thesis that Professor Vorontozoff-Velyciminov advances, perhaps by compulsion. Since his diatribe is probably for home consumption, however, North American astronomers could afford to ignore rather than dignify with rebuttal such queer flights of fancy. That is what the baseball enthusiast will do, of a certainty, secure in the belief that Casey at the bat is more important than a possible planetary eruption a million years hence.

Letters and Excerpts

Letters to the editor on any topic of genuine interest are welcome if they are brief, accurate and fair. No letter will be inserted, in whole or in part, except over the proper signature and address of the writer. Unsolicited correspondence cannot be returned.

STATE OF WORLD

Sir,—In his letter, referring to a recent one of mine, Mr. Warren raises more than one point that might be commented on, but I will only take up one.

What is this faith that is said to be lacking? Never has the world been better than it is today. Everywhere people are striving to help humanity and those of good will, in almost every part of the world, can exchange views and to some extent co-operate for common aims.

If only more people would unite in helping to forward the work that UNESCO has so valiantly begun, a fuller life would ere long be the lot of everyone.

A UNESCO seminar held in England last Summer stressed the great need for adult education.

"It is the adults of our communities, with their fears, their prejudices, and their old habits of thinking or refusing to think, who undo the good work of the schools and retard progress. The chief immediate educational responsibility is in the field of adult rather than earlier education."

The goal of UNESCO is: "To help men to live with their fellows in one world."

Not faith, but reason, is required for this.

MARIAN N. SHERMAN

MENTAL HEALTH

Sir,—Your correspondent's notion of faith and mine appear to differ; my fault, probably, as I used the term in its psychological sense.

Supposing the figures are correct, considering the hectic way of life in the U.S.A. — 90-odd per cent of sanity and unimpaired mental vigor seems a really remarkable achievement.

A little inductive reasoning, arguing from cause to effect, might not be out of place. Mere generalizations don't help.

Get at the cause (due to an unnatural and irrational way of life) and remove it, and the much-harassed national health officials and social workers generally would be relieved of the existing pressure, and there would, besides, be more beds available for the normal number of mental cases, from which no community ever has been or ever will be completely immune.

Persistently to blame harsh living conditions for mental breakdown is not born out by the excellent health conditions prevailing in the British Isles. That is just where vision comes into the picture. The will to do and the faith to accomplish, scouting the bare idea of failure, is the secret of Great Britain emerging from what at one time seemed an impossible achievement.

This provides a shining example to the world at large well worth following.

ARTHUR WARREN

British Empire Club, Victoria, B.C.

BEACH SERVICES

Sir,—I see that a complaint has been lodged against the Gospel services that are held on the beach at Gonzales Bay.

It is good to see that there are at least a few in these "irreligious" times who have the courage to declare to men the faith they believe to be true.

Christianity was born in the open air. The Apostles and many of the great preachers spoke in the open air and there were many who would have liked to silence them. In fact, they often succeeded.

It will be a great day for this old world when the churches decide to return to primitive methods (they may have to, one day). Extremely inspiring, too, would it be to see the clergy rising to the occasion and taking the lead.

It's also sad to think that one hour of service could be so objectionable. As for the pamphlets, those that receive them could at least put them in their pockets and, if they so wished, dispose of them elsewhere in the proper manner.

I might emphasize that I am not in any way affiliated with these people, except that I share a common faith.

Thank you for "bearing" with us correspondents.

J. STOREY.

From "Knowledge"

I know not why the beech delights the glade
With boughs extended, and a rounder shade.
Whilst towering firs in conic forms arise,
And with a pointed spear divide the skies.
Nor why the changing oak should shed
The yearly honour of his stately head;
Whilst the distinguished yew is ever seen,
Unchanged his branch, and permanent his green.
Wanting the sun why does the caltha fade?
Why does the cypress flourish in the shade?
The fig and date, why love they to remain
In middle station, and an even plain:
While in the lower marsh the gourd is found;
And while the hill with olive shade is crowned? . . .

—MATTHEW PRIOR.

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

ANYONE reading the story in Sunday's issue of this newspaper about the feminine (United States) teen-age writer who called on George Bernard Shaw would probably conclude that the Irish nonagenarian is a rude old man.

He is that, of course.

But the chances are it is all part of a pose. Shaw was such a pushing young iconoclast in his early days you might think he would have sympathy for eager beavers who seek him in his country hideout. That role would be too conventional, however.

A while back, according to a recent book, "Days With Bernard Shaw," he put up a sign to keep people away. It read: "Private: No Trespassing." This was ineffective, so he put up another: "Original Thinker—Beware."

The thinker touch was typically Shavian, which is to be expected from the playwright who ranks himself at least on a par with Shakespeare. There is no telling how posterity will assess anyone, but this not too modest claim is the measure of the celebrated G.B.S.

At ninety years and more most men would be content to rest on their laurels, especially if they had a shelf of books to their name that would do any writer credit, but there must be an inner wasp that prevents Shaw from keeping still.

* * *

He is a remarkable personality for his age, needless to say, although I fancy he has carefully cultivated the orneriness that sets him apart—and keeps him in the headlines.

Even his admiration of Stalin—"the greatest statesman of all time"—is suspect for the same reason.

Remember what Winston Churchill said of him:

"He was one of my earliest antipathies . . . This bright, nimble, fierce, and comprehending being—Jack Frost dancing bespangled in the sunshine. He is at once an acquisitive Capitalist and a sincere Communist. He makes his characters talk blithely about killing men for the sake of an idea; but he would take great trouble not to hurt a fly."

And again, acidly:

"If the truth be told, our British island has not had much help in its troubles from Mr. Bernard Shaw. When nations are fighting for life, when the palace in which the jester dwells not uncomfortably is itself assailed and everyone from prince to groom is fighting on the battlements, the jester's jokes echo only through deserted halls, and his witticisms and condemnations, distributed evenly between friend and foe, jar the ear of hurrying messengers, of mourning women and wounded men. The titter ill accords with the tocsin, or the motley with the bandages."

All of which, I have no doubt, rolled off Mr. Shaw as unconcernedly as water is alleged to slip from a duck's back.

* * *

Did he really desire to pass his twilight in undisturbed tranquility, Shaw in all probability would be left alone, even though he still retains an unusual capacity that enables him to write books and remain in the public eye.

T. E. Lawrence, who took Shaw's name for his own after his Arabian adventure was over, also found it difficult to hide away in the country, but he was a monk by instinct and there was no pretence about his shyness from publicity. In addition he had the bitter memory of his identity being sold for 30 pieces of gold.

On the other hand, you get the definite impression that G.B.S. would die immediately of chagrin were he to be taken at his word and his "Beware" sign scrupulously observed. His philosophy, albeit he would scorn the analogy, seems to be akin to that of the movie actress who would prefer to be maligned rather than ignored.

How otherwise explain the constant intervention by pen and tongue, both tart, that keeps the Shavian pot boiling and the world immersed in its vanity.

He is a rude old man, but of a purpose.

Week-End Labor

(Australian News Letter)

THE Australian 40-hour week has brought into being an army of casual week-end labor. Nobody knows how large or how small this army is; the Government statistician has no figures on the subject.

Some employers claim that the figure is large; some unions deny that their members are doing casual week-end work, and one union secretary accuses tradesmen of another union of engaging in week-end work in large numbers.

Everyone knows that there are numbers of people in Sydney today who have two jobs. They may be buildings tradesmen accepting work on private homes at week-ends after working for building contractors during the week; they may be factory girls finishing a day's work to go to a city cafe as a waitress for the evening meal and later; they may be part of the large groups of casual workers who help to bring out the Sunday papers.

In many cases their work is recorded in the payroll returns of the organization employing them, but in very many other cases there is no record of the employment either by the employer or the employee.

This is one of the reasons why figures are impossible to obtain. The employer, perhaps a private home builder, connives in the deception, and the employee is no less anxious to conceal his activities from the tax gatherers.

The secretary of the Master Builders' Association says that his association knows that building tradesmen are working at week-ends and are receiving up to £5 a day for their labor. No receipts change hands when the wages are paid, and tax returns probably do not show the additional income.

"The employer of the week-end labor probably gets his money's worth," he says, "but there is a lag then in the usual working hours. In other words the tradesman goes back to his week-day job to recuperate from his week-end efforts."

The secretary of the Australian Builders' Laborers' Federation says: "We know of quite a number of carpenters and bricklayers who seek work elsewhere than on their regular jobs. They may be in teams of up to five accepting week-end contracts. Eight out of ten of the men who are doing this work are doing it on the black market for black market prices, and there is no tax paid."

There is unanimity among those connected with the industry on one point. They agree that if men are working at the week-ends in building or in anything else it is because wages have failed to keep pace with rising costs, and that the people who are doing it are trying to supplement ordinary income to match their living costs.

The Taxation Department is taking an interest in casual week-end work, and workers, even in remote suburbs, may soon find an unwelcome visitor checking the names of those engaged on single-home projects.

Master builders engaged in home building make the point that much of the casual week-end work is in maintenance jobs that cannot be done on week-days because of the manpower shortage.

Revealing Remarks

(From The Winnipeg Tribune)

PREMIER Joseph Smallwood's "not one red cent" utterance has the echoing sound of a phrase that will continue to ring for many a year.

All too often it is a phrase of this kind that crystallizes the popular estimation of the character of a man or the significance of an event. A single sentence in an unguarded moment may carry with it such intense conviction that it is never forgotten as long as the person himself is remembered.

It can stand permanently in the popular mind as a definitive thumbnail sketch or as an epitaph.

Instance after instance of this kind is recorded. There is Mr. King's famous "conscription if necessary, not necessarily conscription." Sir John A. Macdonald's "A British subject I was born, a British subject I will die" clings to his memory like a true shadow of the man. So does Lord Baldwin's statement explaining his failure to warn Britain that Germany was rearming during the political campaign of 1935. Lord Baldwin said, "I cannot think of anything that would have made the loss of the election, from my point of view, more sure."

Then there was Mr. Howe's classic remark, "What's a million dollars anyway?".

Unguarded phrases of this kind have frequently changed the course of major events in the past. Mr. King's "not a five-cent piece" remark was a large factor in the Liberals losing the Dominion election in 1930. The phrase "Rum, Romanism and rebellion" cost James G. Blaine the presidency of the United States in the '80's. The phrase "Let them eat cake", attributed to Marie Antoinette helped find her a seat in the tumbrils.

When Von Bethmann-Hollweg, German Foreign Minister, called the British treaty with Belgium "a scrap of paper," he influenced the outcome of World War I, as did the Kaiser when he referred to the British expeditionary force as the "contemptible little army."

Nor did Napoleon do his cause any good when he set out to beat what he contemptuously called a "nation of shopkeepers."

VANISHING ART

When a man, who is now a Lismore, N.S.W., bank manager, received a Bengal blade razor as his Australian Army issue in 1915, he found the edge to his liking; but two years later it began to drag his beard, so on a Sunday morning in London he wandered through Petticoat Lane, bought a tube of razor paste from an itinerant vendor.

For more than 30 years, says a Sydney Sun columnist, he used the razor, reviving its edge occasionally with the old tube of paste. When it was finally exhausted, he wrote to the firm whose name appeared on the tube, asking them to send him out a couple more tubes.

In the New Year he had a reply from the firm. It told him that the razor paste industry had been killed by the introduction of the safety razor, that no paste had been made for 25 years. The letter went on:

"Fortunately, however, we have one or two tubes left as museum pieces, and are forwarding one with our compliments. We are sorry we cannot spare more than one, but perhaps when you come to the end of it in 1978 you may consider growing a beard."

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

IN business and industry, real executives are few and far between. The executive talent is an art, the same as the talent for music, painting, poetry. Top-ranking artists are as rare in the executive field as in any of the others.

According to a famous publisher now dead, who was recognized in his time as an inspired executive, the ordinary executive observes these rules:

(a) What should be done?
(b) How should it be done?
(c) Who should do it?

But the really great executive adds a fourth:

(d) Has it been done?

That last little query makes all the difference. The business world is full of bounding fellows who are awfully quick at determining what should be done. They are also smart at deciding how it should be done and who should do it—which, in the lower orders of enterprise is known as passing the buck. But then these agile minds promptly go bounding off to play golf or attend a convention, cigar gripped in the molars. They look like executives. They feel like executives. But business gets snarled up.

They should have stayed home, like the real artists of their profession, and in thin, bitter voices, kept asking:

(d) Has it been done?

Then business would have hummed, everything would have flowed as smooth as a great river of oil, millions would be made, everybody would be unhappy, everybody would be afraid, nobody would sleep of nights, and it would all be a tremendous success.

Really great executives are a divine blessing to the nation's well-being. But nobody would want to go fishing with them. — Canada Wide Feature Service, Ltd.

Contrary to general belief, snowfall is not heavy in the Northwest Territories. Because of low Winter temperatures, however, snow remains on the ground for a long time. Annual precipitation of 10 to 13 inches in the Mackenzie Valley includes 40 to 80 inches of snow, which is about half of the normal snowfall of the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River.

Law Lords of Privy Council Study B.C. Land Grant Appeal

LONDON, June 27 — (CP) — Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret of Canada today joined four other law lords of the judical committee of the Privy Council to hear an appeal growing out of a prolonged land dispute between the governments of British Columbia and Canada.

The appeal, brought by the Attorney-General of British Columbia from a judgment of the Supreme Court of Canada, will decide whether there was any contract between the British Columbia Government and the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway Company in relation to land alongside the railway.

If so, the law lords will also decide whether certain taxation legislation would be proper under the provisions of the contract.

The history of the case was outlined by J. W. deB. Farris of Vancouver, appearing for the British [illegible]

Farris recalled that British Columbia entered confederation in 1871. Section two of the terms of union provided that the Dominion Government would construct a railway across Canada, connecting the British Columbia seaboard with Eastern Canada's railway system.

For this purpose the Provincial Government conveyed to the Dominion Government in trust a strip of land 20 miles in width on each side of the railroad throughout British Columbia.

Subsequently a controversy developed between the two governments as to ther respective rights and obligations in relation to railroads on the Mainland and on Vancouver Island.

Farris said the question at issue was whether a contract existed between the Province and the contractors or between the Province and the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway that this land would not be subject to taxation.

Opposing the appeal with the Dominion Government are the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway and the Alpine Timber Company Limited of British Columbia.

Communists Take Over Church Offices

PRAGUE, June 27 (AP) — Roman Catholic informants said tonight Czecho-Slovakia's Communist Government and its Catholic Action Committee have seized virtually all church consistories in the country.

The consistories are the highest administrative offices in Archdiocese and Diocese and usually are situated in or near the palace of the archbishop or bishop. They print and distribute pastoral letters and directives of the hierarchy and handle some administrative matters.

The informants said many priests who resisted the spreading Government confiscation of church property and offices were arrested.

BERAN'S LETTER READ

The report followed the reading in many church pulpits yesterday of a pastoral letter from Archbishop Joseph Beran and the bishops. This summed up church grievances against the Communist Government and charged the regime with deliberately plundering and persecuting the church.

The letter obviously had been prepared and printed outside the Archbishop's Palace because the Archbishop's own consistory has been under police guard nearly two weeks.

The Archbishop has been fighting the Government on the grounds that it is trying to split the church by setting up a "schismatic" Catholic Action Committee and thus ripen the church for subjugation to anti-Christian thought.

From the Government-occupied consistories, Catholic Action committees were said to be issuing orders and directives of their own composition.

DON'T HALT TALKS

In London State Undersecretary Christopher Mayhew rejected today a proposal to break off British trade talks with Czecho-Slovakia because of the current church-state conflict there.

"The Government is not prepared to suspend these negotiations on political grounds," Mayhew told Conservative Member Sir Patrick Hannon in the House of Commons.

Hannon has asked suspension of the current trade talks "in view of the public disapproval . . . of the lack of religious freedom accorded to Czech citizens."

There were cheers for his remarks from other members. Mayhew replied the Government already has made known its detestation of persecution everywhere," but "we cannot only trade with those countries whose politics we approve of."

Gift Watch Ends Cycle

LONDON, June 27 (CP) — Winston Churchill has had returned to him an inscribed gold watch he gave away 50 years ago.

Churchill was a war correspondent in the Boer War in South Africa. The Boers caught him and jailed him. Churchill escaped. Two Britons who worked in a gold mine hid him in the pit.

Later, Churchill gave both of them watches.

One of them, Joseph McHenry, died several years ago, leaving the watch to his wife. Now she has died and left it to Churchill. Churchill disclosed today he has accepted the gift.

Air Exercise Over Britain "Too Real"

LONDON, June 27 (AP) — The first phase of air exercises to test the defences of industrial Britain against an atom bomb blitz ended today with one major complaint. London residents said they were "too realistic."

Referees and high air officials of three countries were cagey about preliminary results of "operation toil" in which British bombers and fighters, United States Superforts and jet fighters, and Netherlands jet fighters participated.

There were indications from other observers and from the sound of heavy bomber formations over the metropolitan area that the capital had been "heavily pounded" in two night attacks.

Thousands of aroused Britons, their sleep broken on a hot June week-end by low-flying planes, telephoned the Air Ministry to complain. Many said their children, reminded of wartime blitz raids, ran screaming from their homes.

Oddities

St. Joseph, Mo., June 27 — (AP) — One St. Joseph golfer has a new way of sinking his shots.

Yesterday Leslie Stites, Karl Compton, Charles Stockwell and Forrest R. Mann were playing at a local club.

Compton was standing near the green, waiting for Stites to play an iron shot across a lake.

Compton saw the ball was headed his way and quickly dropped to the ground. Seconds later he felt a strong tug at the seat of his pants.

The ball had landed in his hip pocket.

BOSTON, June 27 — (AP) — While marathon runner William F. Lanigan, 42, burned up the road, his trousers also burned up.

There was no known connection between the fire that destroyed Lanigan's trousers, Sunday's 86-degree temperature, and Lanigan's four-mile practice jaunt, but Lanigan was burned up anyway when he came back to his starting point and found just ashes where his pants and shirt should have been.

A grass fire had swept the field in which Lanigan deposited his garments while he started on his run.

Belgian Voters Turn Down Bid for Return of Leopold

BRUSSELS, June 27 (CP). — Belgian voters have rebuffed the Social Christian (Catholic) Party's bid for an absolute Parliamentary majority favoring the return of exiled King Leopold.

Final figures released tonight on Sunday's voting showed this standing in the Chamber of Deputies: Social Christians, 104 (gain of 12); Socialists, 66 (loss of three); Liberals, 30 (gain of 13); Communists, 12 (loss of 11).

The Social Christians, supporters of the return of King Leopold, needed a majority over other parties in the Chamber to take any action on the Royal question.

Premier Paul-Henri Spaak's Socialist Party wound up second to the Socialist Christian Party. Spaak has headed a Coalition Cabinet, which resigned today.

U.K., Argentina Agree As U.S. Eases Objections

BUENOS AIRES, June 27 (AP) — Britain and Argentina today signed a five-year trade agreement and a few hours later the United States toned down objections it had voiced to the pact.

The pact provides Britain with a large supply of meat, and Argentina will take quantities of British industrial products. Britain will spend a minimum of £129,000,000 ($516,000,000) annually for Argentine products and Argentina a minimum of $121,535,000 annually for British products.

Originally the United States said the pact violates the spirit of free competitive international trade.

PERON RAPS CRITICS

However, the State Department in Washington, in a formal statement tonight, said it was "gratified to observe that substantially more flexibility" has been incorporated into the text of the trade pact. At no point did the statement say the United States now approves the pact. The statement was issued after top department officials had consulted most of the day on what the United States attitude would be.

Marking the end of negotiations lasting four months and five days, President Juan Peron sharply rapped "outside criticism" in a short speech at the ceremony.

He said both sides sought by every means to conclude a pact on multilateral principles but in vain.

ONLY COURSE

Sir John Balfour, British Ambassador, did not refer directly to the United States protests but said the two countries have found bilateral trading the only possible course. He said both countries are free to buy from the United States when they have dollars available.

In Ottawa the general opinion was that the agreement will not hurt Canada, and there was sympathy for the attitude of the United Kingdom.

The agreement goes into effect July 1.

In London, A. J. Jackson, secretary of the National Federation of Meat Traders' Associations, said tonight that the British meat ration might be increased soon, as a result of the pact.

Sanford Evans Dies, Aged 79

WINNIPEG, June 27 — (CP) — William Sanford Evans, a former mayor of Winnipeg and for 14 years a member of the Manitoba Legislature, died here today at his home. He was 79.

Recognized as one of the leading statisticians of Western Canada, he was founder and president of the W. Sanford Evans Company of Winnipeg. One of his outstanding contributions to life in this coutry was his close identification with the creation and growth of the Canadian clubs.

He was president in 1893 of the Canadian Club of Hamilton, parent of all Canadian clubs in the Dominion. Later, he was instrumental in forming a Canadian club in Toronto in 1897 and he played a similar role in formation of the Canadian Club of Winnipeg in 1901.

Born at Spencerville, Ont., he was educated in schools at Hamilton and Cobourg, Ont., and at Columbia University in New York. Following graduation from Columbia he worked on the old Toronto Mail and Empire as an editor from 1897 until 1900 and then served until 1905 as president of the Winnipeg Telegram Printing Company and editor-in-chief of the newspaper.

He then retired from the journalistic field and entered the brokerage and investment business.

In 1907 he was elected to the city's Board of Control. The following year he became mayor of Winnipeg a post he held for three years. He was a Conservative in politics, representing Winnipeg in the Legislature.

Eagles Study "Boys' Town" For Province

VANCOUVER, June 27 (CP) — British Columbia may have a "boys town" similar to that established in Omaha by the late Father Edward Flanigan.

A committee to look into the possibility of establishing a town on the Agassiz-Hope Highway, about 70 miles east of Vancouver, was set up by the Fraternal Order of Eagles at their provincial convention.

Joseph Wright of Victoria was elected president of the Provincial Aerie as the three-day convention ended yesterday. Ralph Goodman of Vancouver was named vice-president and E. D. Kerslake of North Vancouver, chaplain.

Other officers include: Bert R. Work of Nanaimo, junior past president; Tom Anderson, Nanaimo, conductor; George Goodenough, Victoria, secretary, and J. A. Knight, Ladysmith, treasurer.

James B. Washington of Parksville was chosen Canadian representative to attend the grand aerie convention at Detroit in August.

New Berlin Conference Seeks to End Deadlock

BERLIN, June 27 (AP). — Four-Power talks are being revived here tomorrow for a new try at thawing out the cold economic deadlock in divided Germany.

The deputy military governors of the United States, Britain, France and Russia are acting on orders issued by the Big-Four Foreign Ministers' Council when it ended a month-long session just a week ago today.

The decision of the Foreign Ministers was to lay the basis for at least "a way of living together" that will afford economic traffic between the east and west zones of Germany and sectors of Berlin.

STRIKE ENDING

The deputies' meeting coincides with the scheduled ending of the 37-day strike of anti-Communist union workers against the German railway system's Soviet management.

The Allied Control Authority building, virtually deserted for a year, is the deputies' meeting place.

The last previous meeting was March 17, 1948, when East-West tension was leading up to the Soviet blockade of Berlin, since ended, and the Allied air lift, one year old yesterday.

Western sources said the deputies probably would plunge immediately into the trade situation between booming Western Germany and the Soviet zone, where the economy is sagging, and would review transport conditions.

CHINK IN CURTAIN

Ending of the rail strike will open a chink in the little iron curtain in Berlin. The 14,000 strikers have promised to obey a Western Power order to report for work at 8 a.m. Tuesday. They will get full pay for west sector marks — worth at least four times as much as Soviet marks.

The strikers failed to get recognition for their union, U.G.O., but the Russians promised they would not try reprisals against returning workmen.

Ottawa Lifts More Controls

OTTAWA, June 27 (CP). — Export controls have been lifted from a wide variety of steel, iron and wood products, the Trade Department announced today.

It will mean that such goods as automobile parts, electrical appliances, railway rolling stock, lead and wood products such as cedar shingles and fence posts may be shipped out of the country without an export permit.

It also means, a department spokesman said, that these goods are in easier supply, otherwise the controls would not have been lifted.

He expected that if orders in council could be passed by July 1, further commodities, such as fertilizers and cocoa would be taken off the controls list.

Export controls were imposed during the early years of the second world war when demand was high and supply short.

They have been lifted from a number of commodities since the end of the war.

30 Flee Fire In Vancouver

VANCOUVER, June 27 (CP). — Thirty residents of a rooming house, including eight children, fled in night attire when flames swept through the top story of the building early today.

Charles King, a 46-year-old veteran of two wars, was the last man out of the burning building. He was awakened in his top floor suite by his wife who heard what she described as "a strong crackling noise," then saw a glow on the windows.

King turned in the alarm, then helped other occupants of the building to safety.

He then returned to his suite for clothing and narrowly missed being trapped.

"A fireman tried to shut the door while I was in there," King said. "He couldn't see me because of the smoke, but I shouted above the noise of the flames and just managed to get out."

Election Highlights

TORONTO, (CP).—Tim Buck, national Labor-Progressive Party leader, was defeated in Toronto Trinity by Lionel Conacher, one-time all-round professional athlete and former Ontario Athletic Commissioner. Conacher also defeated Progressive Conservative and C.C.F. opponents.

WINNIPEG, (CP).—Justice Minister-Garson won the Marquette constituency for the Liberals in yesterday's Federal election. The former Manitoba premier piled up a lead from the start over C.C.F. and Progressive Conservative opponents.

TORONTO, (CP).—Nina Petruck, 21, entered a polling booth and identified herself as Mrs. Ogle of Niagara Street.

"Why that's my mother!" said Mrs. Anne Andreychuck, who was standing nearby. You are certainly not my mother!"

Miss Petruck was charged with impersonation.

MONTREAL (CP).—J. L. Sainte-Marie marked two ballots but it was all quite legal. He marked one for his wife who is blind. At their polling booth, Mrs. Saint-Marie took an oath on the bible that she is blind and needed the assistance of another person to fulfil her duty as a voter. Her husband then marked her ballot, after which he voted for himself.

MONTREAL, (CP).—Many Montreal voters became confused over polling times. They turned up at 8 a.m., daylight time, forgetting that the 8 a.m. opening was standard time. Most of the too-early birds waited an hour until the polling places were thrown open for business.

DAWSON, Yukon (CP).—Polls in this Yukon-Mackenzie constituency closed at three different hours—6 p.m. Mountain, Pacific, and Yukon Standard Time. Voters here would still be marking ballots two hours after the pools closed in Yellowknife which is on mountain time.

OTTAWA (CP).—Strict enforcement of election regulations today prevented E. W. King, arthritic cripple for 14 years, from voting in Ottawa West. He was unable to enter the polling both and in previous years the ballot box has been brought outside to him. This year, the practice was stopped because of regulations that said ballot boxes must not be removed from the polling booth.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP).—Mrs. Grace Sparkes, Progressive Conservative, only woman candidate in Newfoundland, was defeated last night by C. W. Carter, Liberal. Mrs. Sparkes was the first of the 15 women candidates to be defeated.

MONTREAL, (CP).—Montreal Cartier provided a lively fight between Harry Binder, Labor Progressive, and Maurice Hartt, Liberal member of the last House, with Mr. Hartt winning re-election. Cartier returned Fred Rose in the 1945 general election as the only Labor Progressive ever to sit in the House of Commons. When Mr. Rose was sentenced to penitentiary for espionage activity, a by-election was held in March, 1947, and Mr. Hartt won.

LUNENBURG, N.S. (CP).—Reconstruction Minister Winters, re-elected in Lunenburg riding, said tonight he was "very much thrilled" over the Liberal victory in yesterday's Federal election.

He said: "It couldn't be better . . . that's marvelous.

Mr. Winters said the Liberals "would continue on where interrupted" to introduce Liberal policies throughout the Dominion.

PARRY SOUND, Ont., (CP).—W. K. (Bucko) McDonald, former National Hockey League star and Liberal member of the last Commons, was elected yesterday in the Ontario riding of Parry Sound-Muskoka. He defeated J. M. Macdonell, Progressive Conservative financial critic in the last House.

VANCOUVER, (CP).—It looks as if man is still the master. Angus MacInnes, a strong C.C.F'er, with a soft burr, easily won re-election in Vancouver East. His determined wife, Grace, respectfully congratulated him after she bowed to Liberal, Art Laing, in Vancouver South. The other woman candidate in British Columbia, Mrs. Dorothy Steeves, C.C.F., likewise met defeat at the hands of a man — Liberal Tom Goode—in Burnaby-Richmond.

VANCOUVER (CP).—Ralph Campney scored a surprise landside in the key sent of Vancouver Centre, easily outrunning Hon. Harry H. Stevens, the 70-year-old Progressive Conservative warhorse, who returned to the political arena after a nine-year retirement. Mr. Stevens, three times a minister, would have made his 30th appearance in the Commons, but for Liberal Campney.

Shoulder - to - shoulder throngs filled party headquarters as Liberal, Progressive Conservative and C.C.F. candidates in Victoria nervously awaited election results last night.

Fisheries Minister R. W. Mayhew, Victoria, and Maj.-Gen. George R. Pearkes, V.C., Nanaimo, wrung hundreds of hands as supporters pressed in to congratulate them on their victories.

Blackboards marked cross-Canada and local progress of candidates as votes rolled in from scattered polls.

In Liberal headquarters, strident announcements from the platform kept supporters informed.

As soon as his defeat was certain, Victoria Progressive Conservative Candidate Gordon Cameron walked down to the opposition stronghold and delivered congratulations to Mr. Mayhew.

Plan to Build 500 New Homes For Servicemen in City Area

Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation plans to build more than 500 houses for service personnel in the Greater Victoria area.

Allan A. Chauvin, branch manager of the corporation, said that tenders have been called for clearing 60 acres on Belmont Road, the eventual site of more than 400 homes for active naval personnel and their families.

Tenders close at the regional office in Vancouver at noon on July 12.

TENDERS FOR HOUSES

Tenders have also been called for 40 naval officers' houses at Esquimalt. Twenty of them will be in the H.M.C.S. Naden area, behind the new officers' mess. Twenty more will be to the right of the dockyard gate.

Tenders for the two 20-house projects close at noon July 8.

A total of 75 houses are also to be built for Canadian Army active personnel at Macaulay Camp.

Still awaited is Victoria's action on the project to build 100 more houses for veterans in the city. There are 700 now.

PLAN TURNED DOWN

Recently, Saanich finally turned down the corporation's plan to build 152 houses on Richmond Road. Snag was the corporation's proviso that taxes should be fixed for five years.

More than 1,065 veterans, many in desperate need of houses, are on Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation's Greater Victoria waiting-list.

Zelotes Club Tours Air Surveys Branch

A tour of the Air Surveys Division, Department of Lands and Forests, on Thursday evening, marked the final meeting before the Summer recess of the Zelotes Business and Professional Women's Club.

Mr. G. Andrews, chief engineer, welcomed the members, and described the work done by the Division, stressing its importance in the rapid development in British Columbia industry. He then conducted the members on the tour, explaining facilities en route and following step by step the processes of map making. The club saw first the precision processing of air films as demonstrated by photographers Messrs. E. Hackett and C. Hobson.

The succeeding steps of annotation, co-relation, cataloguing, and filing of negatives and prints were explained in their respective order by Mr. A. Kinnear. Mr. Andrews then showed the operations of the delicate air cameras.

Mr. W. Hall, assistant chief engineer, in charge of the actual map-making, illustrated step by step the intricacies of their exacting work. Great interest was shown by the club members in the special equipment and devices developed to assist this work, made necessary by the unique problems posed by British Columbia's rugged terrain.

At the conclusion of the tour, Miss Hilda Spearman expressed the thanks of the club to the members of the Air Surveys Division for making possible the very interesting and instructive evening.

Defeated Candidates Pictured as Returns Come In

—Colonist Photos

Defeated Federal election candidates in Lower Island constituencies conceded defeat gracefully early in battle of ballots yesterday as vote rolled in.

At top right, Robert Strachan, at left in picture, Nanaimo C.C.F. contestant, remains calm as tide continues to run against him. With him at Douglas Street Hall is Robert Smeal. Gordon A. Cameron, at lower left, unsuccessful Progressive Conservative candidate in the Victoria riding, consoles himself with a big cigar, sits quietly with pet terrier, Mandy, as his running mate, Major-General G. Voting at Station No. 121, 2880 Beach Drive, was slow up to 3:30 p.m. yesterday with only 130 out of 305 eligible voters having cast their ballot.

Mayhew, Pearkes Modest After Victory at Polls

Fisheries Minister R. W. Mayhew, two-to-one victor over Progressive Conservative Candidate Gordon Cameron in Victoria, took his Dominion election triumph modestly last night.

"I am pleased that you have asked me to serve you again," he said, "because I have sincerely wanted to continue in service to the people of Victoria, the people of British Columbia, and indeed, the people of Canada."

Progressive Conservative Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., acclaimed before and after his re-election as "the best member Nanaimo ever had," was equally unassuming.

"I would like to thank those from all parties who supported me," Maj.-Gen. Pearkes said.

"The election shows we are getting back to a two-party system. It takes some time for the country to appreciate the qualities of a new leader of a national party. I am confident that in the next Parliament George Drew will make his great personality felt.

"It is in the best interests of Canada that there should be a virile Opposition to the party in power. Canadians may rely on Mr. Drew and the Progressive Conservatives to provide that vigorous opposition which is desirable."

Said Mr. Mayhew: "I am delighted that the Canadian people have given such overwhelming support to the Honorable Louis St. Laurent, our great Prime Minister. I believe he is the greatest prime minister of our time and that he will do more for the unity, security and prosperity of our country . . .

"The unqualified endorsation of the Liberal Government and its program will return us to Ottawa with the strength and the will to carry forward the aims we have put before you in this campaign.

"For myself I can only say—and this is the only promise I have ever made to you—that I will continue to serve all citizens of Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt, to the very best of my ability."

Said Progressive Conservative runner-up in Victoria, Gordon Cameron:

DECISION MADE

"The electors . . . have heard the policies and programs of the various candidates and have made their decisions.

"Naturally I am disappointed, but I feel that the principle of democracy, the very foundation of our nation, had been served . . ."

Said William Caird, C.C.F. loser in Victoria:

"I'm sorry the people have decided as they have. This country, I am convinced, is moving toward difficult times and it will require great adaptability on the part of any government to carry the country through. I hope the Liberals have the necessary elasticity."

Premier Byron Johnson, leader of the Liberal Party in British Columbia, hailed the Liberal Federal victory as an "endorsation of the party's record and a mandate to

"The sweeping victory demonstrated two things very clearly," he said.

FREE ENTERPRISE

"First, the people of our country are still determined to develop the Dominion along traditional lines of free enterprise, rather than embarking on untried economic theories; secondly, it gave evidence that the Liberal Party and the Government it supports are in tune with public sentiment.

"The humanitarian policies that have led to so many social reforms, and the splendid war record of the Government, have been fully endorsed."

DURHAM, England (CP)—Durham University has instituted the first course leading to a degree in town and country planning in Britain. The course extends through five years. A similar course will be started by Manchester University this year.

FIRST SCIENTIFIC AID

The oldest scientific instrument is believed to be the astrolabe, used by the Greeks 2,000 years ago, for telling time and latitude.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

THAT WORD "BARBARIAN"

Anthropologists tell us that many tribes of aborigines still living in the world's jungle areas are kinder, friendlier, more honest and less suspicious than the white men who regards them as "barbarians." In the history of this word one finds further evidence that whether or not a human being is a "barbarian" may depend on how you look at him.

"Barbarian" comes from the Latin "barbar-us," out of the Greek meaning "foreigner." It appears that anciently in Greece the word alluded first to the speech of the stranger, signifying non-Hellenic, foreign.

Now the Greeks had their pride of race, of course, even pride of state, and a word meaning non-Greek had its disparaging side, the extent of this being governed by the writer who used it. But in the light of the Greek intellect, things were seldom all black or all white, and it remained for later times—for people lacking the intellectual integrity which would restrain the pot from calling the kettle black—to shade the word meaning "outlander" or "foreigner" to the significance of rude, cruel, savage, which it has for us today.

Seattle Trip Follows Rites

At a double ring ceremony solemnized by Rev. F. Pike at St. Luke's Church on Saturday, Evelyn, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Mallett, 1531 Ruby Road, exchanged vows with Kenneth William Middleton, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Middleton of Gordon Head Camp, formerly of Winnipeg.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a gown of white embossed satin fashioned with nylon mesh yoke and off-shoulder neckline edged with lace and gathered at three points with pearls; the bodice was buttoned down the back and the full skirt was caught up at the hemline with three satin bows to reveal lace ruffles. Her floor-length veil was arranged with a coronet of apple blossoms and calla lilies. A rhinestone necklace, the groom's gift, was her only jewelry and she carried a shower of pink and white roses.

Mrs. Ray Middleton, the groom's sister-in-law, as matron of honor, wore pale yellow taffeta with matching sheer headdress trimmed with mauve flowers. She carried a sheaf of yellow roses and mauve sweet peas. Miss Isobel Denman and Miss Florence Litster, bridesmaids, were gowned, respectively, in pale blue and pale pink taffeta with net overskirts. The reception was held at the church hall. The three-tiered cake was topped with orange blossoms and lily of the valley and surrounded with tulle sprinkled with rosebuds. The toast was proposed by Mr. W. H. Turnbull.

For a honeymoon in Seattle and Lynn Valley, B.C., the bride chose a suit of Burgundy gabardine with white and beige accessories and a corsage of rosebuds.

British Stylists Boost Gloves in Wide Variety

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, June 27. (CP)—Accessories count in this year's British fashion trends.

Hand-made novelty gloves are one front-liner. In suedes, leathers and snakeskin, they are designed specially to go with this year's styles and colors.

Wrist-length styles with frilled or turned-back cuffs are popular with color teams like navy and white, black and pastel pink, grey and green, brown and fawn. Smoothly-fitted gauntlets with button-backs are reminiscent of cavalier styles.

An attractive, practical idea is a plain navy leather glove with three-inch white pique gauntlet which can be detached for washing.

Hard-wearing snakeskin-backed country gloves with soft leather palms are made in varying shades of brown and burgundy, with snakeskin handbags to match.

An unusual style in navy has a white V-shaped gusset down the back and white gussets on the inside of each finger.

Matching accessories in rayon taffeta are popular. Examples? A taffeta cloche in navy and white check has matching gloves with wide cuff and navy suede palm and Dolly bag in navy suede with top frill and handles of taffeta. Taffeta gloves have bag and umbrella to match. Tartan and leather shoes have matching scarf and belt.

Rayon accessories are notable this year. A black and gold rayon court shoe is loeless with gold platform and big double pompoms. A blue rayon hat with under-felting is set off by a white embroidery edge and matching embroidery gloves.

For beach wear the weavers are busy. A fisherman's creel provided with a space for a gay head scarf was combined with handbox-sized wickerwork shoulder-bag, large enough for all seaside necessities. A wickerwork frame with a long stocking-like attachment in gaily colored cotton could be used for hat or bag in old smuggling style.

Long gloves are gay as can be. White mesh is trimmed with beads, buttons and bows. One pair has two bands of broderie anglaise, threaded with black velvet ribbon, high up on the arm.

A lovely evening glove in white satin sports a top embroidered with pearl beading. Plain matching court shoes have embroidered toes and the wrist handbag is embroidered completely.

A long evening glove in black suede has a cuff row of pearl buttons giving a detachable glove, designed for dinner engagements to save the necessity for removing the entire glove.

Mesh and silk jersey gloves are also popular for evening and garden party wear in almond, lime, absinthe green, daffodil yellow, egg-shell and caramel.

Alda Hobbs Wed at First United Church

The pretty bride, who is a graduate of Ottawa Civic Hospital, class of '46, chose for her wedding costume a dressmaker suit of loganberry-red lightweight wool, with white straw sailor hat, white accessories and Johanna Hill roses en corsage.

Her only attendant was miss Eleanor Marsh wearing a navy blue tailored shirtwaist dress, with hat of white straw, white accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Mr. Norman Land supported the bridegroom.

Appropriate wedding music was played by Mrs. Roberto Wood, with Schubert's "Ave Maria" being featured during the ceremony.

At the reception held at Olde England Inn, Lampson Street, Mrs. Adrienne Hobbs, sister-in-law of the bride, and the parents of the groom received the guests with the young couple. Roses and sweet peas in silver bowls and lighted tapers decorated the table which was centred with the two-tiered cake. The health of the bride was proposed by Mr. Walter Candy.

The honeymoon will be spent on the Mainland. For traveling the bride donned a black shortie coat over her bridal ensemble. Mr. and Mrs. Kemp will make their home at 1023 Oliphant Avenue.

TIME TO GET BUSY MAKING JAM AND JELLY

For Quick, Easy Sure Results Take Your Choice of CERTO or "CERTO" Crystals

Jam and jelly-making need not be a chore. The sensible modern way to do it is with the help of CERTO or "CERTO" Crystals. Both are fruit pectin—the natural substance in fruit that makes jams "jam" and jellies "jell" — extracted and concentrated for efficient jam and jelly making. The name "Certo" is a trade-mark.

Please yourself which you choose — some prefer the liquid — some the crystals. Each ends guesswork and tedious long boiling. Each gives sure results if you follow the instructions exactly.

Look for Tested Recipes under the label.

Why CERTO Fruit Pectin or "CERTO" Crystals Make Better Jams and Jellies ... Easier ... Quicker

1. VERY SHORT BOIL. When you use CERTO or "CERTO" Crystals, you bring fruit and sugar to a rolling boil, boil exactly one minute, and jam or jelly is done.

2. MORE JAM OR JELLY. Very little juice has been boiled away, so there is more and better jelly. You get more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit.

3. FRESH FRUIT TASTE — COLOUR. The fresh, tangy taste and the true fruit colour of your jams and jellies can be seen the moment you open the cupboard shelf.

4. NO GUESSWORK. With either CERTO or "CERTO" Crystals you get tested recipes — a different one for each fruit. Follow them exactly and you'll have no failures.

Look for Tested Recipes in the package

It's the New Plymouth "Suburban"

Pictured is the brand-new 'Suburban' just announced by Plymouth. President K. T. Keller of the Chrysler Corporation has long maintained that when a person buys a car he wants practical, useful transportation as well as fancy styling. So Mr. Keller personally supervised the planning of the Suburban to make sure it came as close as possible to the ideal of a useful family automobile. The result is certainly quite different from anything ever seen on the road before. Its station wagon lines are familiar enough to motorists but the real difference would have to be missing. This simplifies maintenance problems and keeps costs down. The car is built around the new Plymouth 118-inch wheelbase chassis with heeled-up rear springs to give a level ride with a load. Power plant, steering gear, front end suspension are all standard Plymouth... see your nearest dealer... new Plymouth at Gibson Motors Ltd., 844 Yates Street, Victoria.

BLOWOUTS STRIKE WITHOUT WARNING!

No tire is blowout-proof!

BUT GOODYEAR LIFEGUARDS MAKE BLOWOUTS HARMLESS

Because of the terrific punishment they must take, not even the best tires are blowout proof. What will happen to you if you have a blowout tomorrow? In that split second will you be ready to wheel-fight your way to safety? Will you swerve out of control into the ditch, or crash into oncoming traffic? Or will you bring your car to a safe, gradual stop—like any other motorist with LifeGuards in his tires?

LifeGuards give far more protection than mere "puncture-sealing" devices. They actually make a blowout harmless after it happens—and it can happen to any tire, any place, any time.

Remember, too, that LifeGuards are the most economical tubes you can use—frequently outlast 3 or 4 sets of tires. In sizes available, they fit any make of tire—new or now in service. They're easy to get—see your Goodyear dealer! You can't get better protection to save your life!

Liberal trade-in on your present tubes!

Cripps Studies Bank Proposals To Protect Gold

Cuts in Dollar Area Imports, Spending Urged to Save Reserves

LONDON June 28 (CP) — Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, was reported tonight to be studying proposals from banking quarters for drastic internal retrenchment in a move to protect sterling and Britain's failing gold reserves.

The [illegible] and a sharp reduction in [illegible] are said to be [illegible] pending in an effort [illegible] to prevent [illegible] sterling and Britain's [illegible] gold reserves.

[illegible] the shrinking gold [illegible] will be laid before the Commonwealth finance ministers [illegible] in London in July. It [illegible] have been [illegible] Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, Pakistan and Ceylon.

The pound sterling dropped during the day to a low on the Paris free dollar market, selling at 145 francs less than the official Bank rate. The quotation was 950 francs to the pound against 1,000 francs and an official rate of 1,007.

Top slump in the London stock market was checked however, when buyers were bargain hunting after Monday's sharp fall.

Sir Stafford has been reported in financial quarters to be determined to defend sterling against devaluation that he will resign rather than accept it.

PARIS June 28 (Reuters) — Sir Stafford Cripps arrived in Paris today for the second round of talks in order to solve Britain's sterling difficulties.

A battle over intra-European payments, cornerstone of Britain's gold and dollar difficulties, will be fought out by finance ministers of 18 foreign countries of 19 European states.

At a full council meeting of the Organization for European Economic Co-operation (OEEC) attended by the roving United States envoy for the Marshall Plan, Averill Harriman, head-on divergencies are expected between Sir Stafford and the Marshall Plan administration.

Situation Arouses Concern

WASHINGTON, June 28 (CP) — United States officials expressed deep concern over what they say appears to be an unfavorable crisis in Great Britain.

The crisis is expected to approach a head in July. Officials are convinced that in view of the present political situation no new dollar credits can be extended to the United Kingdom.

The hope seems to be that the entire Commonwealth co-operation Administration program, Britain has been a key factor in this plan.

Meanwhile Paris dispatches from circles reported that the British Government wants President Truman to summon an economic conference of the Western World.

United States officials do not intend to discuss concrete proposals for dealing with the crisis in a [illegible] such a conference is regarded in some quarters as a possibility.

It appears certain that the British Government will soon have to decide whether or not to devalue the pound.

Workmen Start "Shooting Up" Arena Ceiling

Other scaffolding is being erected below centre portion of arena in preparation for main job following completion of experimental work in the northeast corner. Bennett & White Construction Co. Ltd. has contracted job of fastening ceiling sheets. Work must be completed by July 25 before Starlight Theatre productions begin.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, June 28 (INS).—A smouldering-type fire in a Salt Lake ice and storage plant tonight has caused an estimated $1,160,000 damage.

Miles Loses Command Of Carrier

HALIFAX, June 28 (CP).—Commodore G. R. Miles of Rothesay, N.B., tonight was dismissed from command of the aircraft carrier Magnificent and sentenced to be reprimanded. He was found guilty by a navy court martial a few minutes earlier on two charges arising from the grounding of the fat-top June 4.

Cmdr. Miles was found guilty of "negligently or by default suffering" the 16,000-ton flattop to be "hazarded" and "stranded" off Nova Scotia's South Shore. Hazarding and stranding the ship were contained in separate charges.

He was acquitted on two charges of having actually stranded and hazarded the ship by negligence or default.

SEPARATE TRIALS

Commodore Miles and the flattop's navigating officer, Lt.-Cmdr. W. D. F. Johnston of Barnstead, Surrey, England, were ordered to stand for separate courts martial after a naval court of inquiry into the grounding Lt.-Cmdr. Johnston's hearing opens tomorrow.

Today's hearing proceeded after a defence claim that there was no case against Commodore Miles. Defence counsel declared that Magnificent's charts were in error.

The 18,000-ton capital ship grounded on what was described as a submerged uncharted rock off White Point Beach, 70 miles from Halifax.

Claims Bishops All Suppressed

VATICAN CITY, June 28 (AP).—A Vatican source said today that all Roman Catholic bishops have been suppressed in Communist Romania.

This source said reports have reached here that the last two Roman Catholic bishops still free to perform religious duties have been placed under arrest. Charges against them were not explained.

They are Msgr. Aaron Marton, 53, Bishop of Alba Julia, and Msgr. Antonio Durcovici, 61, Bishop of Iasi (Jassy). It was reported that Msgr. Marton was arrested June 21 and Msgr. Durcovici June 26.

The official press in Romania recently reported that both were removed from the Church payrolls for threatening excommunication of church members and inciting the peasants against the Government.

The Vatican informant said the other three Roman Catholic bishops previously were deposed by the Romanian Government. They are: Msgr. Alexander Cisar, Archbishop of Bucharest; Msgr. Agostino Pacha, Bishop of Timisoara, and Msgr. Ion Scheffler, Bishop of Baia-Mare (Neatmar).

This and other recent Vatican reports of activities against church leaders in Romania coincided with the current Church-State tension in Communist Czecho-Slovakia.

Five days ago a Vatican source said two bishops of Romania's Uniate Church had been tortured by Communist officials in an effort to break their allegiance to Pope Pius. They are identified as Msgr. Ion Suciu, Uniate Apostolic administrator, and his auxiliary, Bishop Basil Aftenie.

The following day a Romanian spokesman denied they had been tortured.

Police Hold Six Seamen After Riots

PORT ALBERNI, B.C., June 28 (CP) — Police said tonight they are holding without charge six unidentified seamen following a riot in the Central Vancouver Island town.

Hospital officials said four other seamen, also unidentified, have been admitted for treatment and that two still are in the operating room suffering stab wounds and other injuries.

The former is manned by Canadian Seamen's Union men and the latter by rival Seafarers' International Union (AFL) men.

First reports said a fight broke out in a downtown hotel and that it kept on in the street.

May Withdraw Support Of U.K. Economic Policy

LONDON, June 28 (Reuters).—A new Government wage offer and new domestic threat to the British Government's economic policies appeared here tonight.

The British Transport and General Workers' Union, largest trade union in the world with 1,500,000 members in all key sectors of Britain's industrial activity, announced the agenda for its annual conference. It discusses a widespread move to withdraw union co-operation in Government economic policy.

More than 80 branches of the union have tabled resolutions protesting that the policy of "pay wages, prices and profits" agreed by the Trades Union Congress with the Government can only operate worked in practice against the workers.

Cameron Claims Hundreds of Names Omitted From Federal Voters' Lists

Hundreds of names were left off the Federal voters' list, Gordon A. Cameron, defeated Progressive Conservative candidate for Victoria, alleged yesterday.

Mr. Cameron charged: "I have never seen anything like it."

He said some electors are apparently made to attempt to get [illegible] a second time when they found [illegible].

Enough others out and added that on many lists there were the names of deceased persons.

What made it worse, said Mr. Cameron, was the fact that most of those left off the list seemed to be Conservatives, although he didn't understand why, because the Conservatives had one enumerator in each polling division.

"VERY EXTRAORDINARY"

Said Returning Officer Sydney Child:

"It sounds very extraordinary to me."

He explained that each party appoints one enumerator for each polling division to ensure that the list is complete and fairly compiled.

The revising officers, he said, had sent reports to Ottawa pointing out that there were few objections taken to the published lists.

Mr. Child said every voter had access to the courts of revision if they wanted to find out why their names were not on the list. Actually very few names were added by the courts.

"VOTER'S FAULT"

If anyone was missed from the list, Mr. Child said, he had only to attend the courts of revision.

"It's the individual voter's fault if he doesn't make sure he is on the list," Mr. Child concluded.

Other election day reports said hundreds of angry citizens phoned the returning office during the day to demand to know why they were not on the list. Most seemed confused as to Provincial and Dominion elections and assumed that listing in one automatically carried the other.

Some non-listed citizens argued with deputy returning officers and poll clerks.

Mr. St. Laurent said on the opening day a general conference of the Premiers of the Provinces will be held at Ottawa in 1951 to discuss a renewal of the financial agreements now [illegible] seven provinces. It is conceivable that it [illegible] be put ahead to 1950 or earlier if there is a chance of full agreement.

From the legislative standpoint, the Spring budget that initiated the heavy tax cuts now in effect still needs Parliamentary ratification [illegible] and could get it without trouble [illegible] two months.

A supplementary spending measure [illegible] spending monies [illegible] the Government was voted [illegible] the end of that month before Parliament headed for the hustings at the end of April.

There still are 14 Senate [illegible] the Prime Minister [illegible] five new Senators [illegible] before the election, and some of them may [illegible] members of the Cabinet. Not one of the 19 Cabinet ministers failed to win in Monday's voting.

Parliamentary assistants all of whom also were re-elected, may be elevated to Cabinet status.

Prosecution Denounces Coplon As "Clever Spy" for Russia

WASHINGTON, June 28—(AP)—Prosecutor [illegible] M. Keller, Jr., described [illegible] Coplon at the end [illegible] that she was a "clever spy" for Russia and said Moscow chose her "because she hated the United States."

"There is not a single scintilla of evidence," the defence lawyer insisted in a dramatic appeal to the jury. "The Government has built its case on lies, half-truths and innuendoes."

Weary Saanich Housewives Going Sleepless for Water

Pity the poor Saanich housewife.

Prime requisite for most Saanich families these days are an alarm clock and an abundance of patience.

With that precious commodity—water being the most sought-after substance in all households, resourceful housewives have come up with a system, in which the alarm clock plays a major role.

Because water in many districts is unavailable during the day, many retire in the early evening, set the alarm for about 2 a.m. and turn on the bathtub faucet.

At the sound of the jangling bell, the sleep-laden wife or husband, as the case may be, stumbles towards the bathroom and turns off the tap. If her judgment has been good, the interval of about four hours has seen the tub almost full.

The idea then is to gather all the containers available, and get them full of water throughout the night so there will be some water for the day. That is if any one has had enough sleep during the night to do any washing the next day.

To the fortunate housewife living on an Oliver Victoria, of perfect design, this all seems terribly exaggerated and absolute misery. It is.

Having no water for the past month or so at all, is a matter new to many Saanich families, but they still don't like it. This Summer already has seen several weeks of waterless days with little relief in sight.

RECEIVE PRIZES

Postmaster J. B. Sinclair presented three 10-year-old students of Mount Douglas High School with prizes yesterday for their winning essays on "What I Learned About the Post Office."

A mounted photograph of an early stage coach and a personal letter from W. J. Turnbull, deputy postmaster-general, was given each of the children at a short ceremony held in the postmaster's office.

Prizewinners were Jacqueline Gallaway, Hazel Helin and Anthany Gambrill.

PRESENT CONCERTS

Members of the Musicians Union Transcription Fund provided concerts for the patients of the Veterans and Jubilee Hospitals recently.

They were Frederick Usher, Robert McColl, Al Smith, Ernest Pullen, Geoffrey Williams, Bolton Wesley Moore and Hugh Gray.

TO COMPETE ON MAINLAND

The Victoria city police hefty softball team, coached by Sgt. Thomas Barcester, will go to Vancouver Friday to compete against a team composed of policemen from the Mainland city.

The day is the occasion of the 43rd annual police sports and the local team probably will play against other Mainland teams during the sports day.

Members of the Victoria team are:

MUSICAL PROGRAM

Members of the Kiwanis Club enjoyed an interesting musical program at their regular Empress Hotel luncheon meeting yesterday.

The program was under the direction of Sam Sweetnam, chairman of the club's music committee, and featured vocal selections by Frank Jennings and Mrs. Elsie Stephenson with Malcolm Hamilton at the piano.

Three new members were introduced to the club by Arthur Roberts. They were Fred W. Watkins, Harvey Bailey and Norman Johnson. Each was presented with a club membership certificate and lapel button.

President Don Smith announced that about ten members of the club today would travel to Duncan to attend a meeting of the Up-Island city Kiwanis Club. The Victoria members have arranged for the entertainment program.

PLAN MEETING

The Cosmopolitan Business Men's Club will hold a meeting at the Knights of Pythias Hall on Thursday at 8.15 p.m., it was announced yesterday.

NO MAIL DELIVERY

There will be no letter carrier deliveries on Friday, it was announced yesterday by Postmaster J. B. Sinclair.

The wicket service in the Post Office will be open from 9 to 11 a.m. and the public lobby will remain open until 6 p.m.

Special delivery service and receipt and dispatch of mail will be made as usual.

Water Pours Feebly at Gordon Head

Conspicuous only by its absence for several weeks, water appeared in small quantities in some Gordon Head homes yesterday. It was first day for several weeks that water had been available during day. Usually, housewives get up in middle of night to fill bathtubs and all available containers to see them through next days chores. Children above, Bobby and Linda Bennett of San Pedro Avenue illustrate weakness of water pressure. Householders have forsaken gardens in favor of personal cleanliness. Today, however, they don't expect any water during day unless there is rainfall.

Island Smallholders Tidy Up for Contest

Scores of veterans on Vancouver Island are trimming hedges, applying last-minute dabs of paint and tidying their yards in preparation for judging in the Canada-wide Veterans' Land Act small holding competition.

Entrants in judging in V.I.A. district will be in the running for a return trip which will include a local member.

In addition to cash prizes offered by the Department of Veterans' Affairs, Community Leagues Association is expected to offer the best-kept small holding in Victoria, Comox and the Alberni district. Each district has also announced a prize for the best-kept farm.

IMPROVED BASIS

A prize from Alberni, for [illegible] has also been announced.

Prizes will be awarded on the basis of improvements brought to the property since Assistant Supervisor [illegible] for V.I.A.

There is no doubt that some of the best-developed properties will be entered in the contest, but everyone with the slightest interest in small holdings is urged to enter. Even if you don't win a prize, you'll have a pretty good time.

Entry forms may be obtained from the local office of the Veterans' Land Act.

Double-Threat Bacteria Menaces Humans, Cattle

Splitting headache? It may be brucellosis.

Chasing the double-threat bacteria which menace the lives of cattle and humans is one important task of 150 veterinarians from all over the Pacific Northwest who opened their three-day annual convention yesterday at the Empress Hotel.

The bug known as brucellosis abortis, a cause of abortion in cows, may lurk behind many undiagnosed human illnesses, some of them fatal.

When doctors put their finger on the disease in humans they call it undulant fever because the body temperature undulates rapidly up and down.

MIGRAINE LINK

It is also believed that undulant fever is the real culprit in many cases of "migraine," a vague but very painful sick headache which shifts from one side of the head to the other.

Members of the Northwest Veterinary Association, hailing from British Columbia, Washington and Oregon, are planning their campaign against this and other diseases which menace human and animal lives.

Key to control of brucellosis is bloodtesting, sanitation, segregation and disposal of infected cattle and swine. The disease is most often carried to humans in raw milk. Several veterinary surgeons have died as a result of infection through a scratch.

A film, "Battling Brucellosis," will be part of today's program.

POISON FERN

Horses who gobble bracken fern are poisoned by a chemical substance in the fronds. They develop "staggers" and many die, Dr. Merwyn P. Chapman of Oregon State College, Corvallis, Oregon, told veterinarians of experimental doses of thiamin he is administering in an effort to counteract the condition.

Dr. M. E. Olsen of Victoria, acclaimed as one of North America's outstanding small-animal experts, demonstrated techniques of mending fractures in bones of dogs and other small animals.

Household pets need not die if they break a bone, a special splint originally designed by Dr. Otto Stader and approved by Dr. Kerschner holds the bone together by means of silver screw-fastenings until healing is complete.

Conceived by a veterinarian before the war, the special splint was snapped up by doctors for use in treating war-wounded. Supplies of the splint were not available to the veterinary profession during the war.

FEW VETERINARIANS

There is a serious shortage of veterinarians in Canada, delegates were informed Dr. A. E. MacNabb, principal of Ontario Veterinary College, Guelph, told of expansion plans.

Delegates were welcomed in the morning by Dr. W. R. Gunn, chief of the livestock branch, Provincial Department of Agriculture. Veterinary inspectors from all over the Province came to Victoria for a conference on the preceding day and are staying for the convention.

Dr. G. A. Rose, Ottawa, chief meat inspector for Canada, spoke briefly.

Dr. F. H. Spreston, president of British Columbia Veterinary Medical Association, was yesterday's chairman. Today's chairman will be Dr. M. O. Mulqueeny, president of Washington State Association.

City Painters Will Decide On Pay Offer

Mass meeting of all Victoria painters to decide whether to accept or reject new wage proposals has been called for 8 p.m. on Thursday in the Broughton Street Labor Hall.

Although both union and non-union painters have been invited to attend the meeting, only members of Local 1163, Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America will vote on the conciliation board proposals.

Officers of the union said last night that a new agreement proposed by B. H. E. Gerrie, conciliation officer, would grant union wage demands for a boost from $1.10 to $1.35 an hour but left out some union-sought proposals for improved working conditions.

WILL AFFECT 200

Conciliation procedure followed negotiations with the Master Painters Association, representing almost all Victoria painting contractors.

The new offer will affect 200 Victoria painters. Master painters' representatives during conciliation proceedings were G. Kelsey, C. Howard and Frank Irwin.

Painters were represented by J. Evens, union organizer, Thomas Goodman, district representative, Trades and Labor Council, and Dan Burke.

MAYHEW GOING FAST

Fisheries Minister R. W. Mayhew, elected Monday by a huge majority, said yesterday he will return to Ottawa shortly to resume his job as Federal Minister of Fisheries.

He said he had received no word of a Cabinet meeting this week, but if there was an important one he would fly back East.

Provinces Still Own Fiscal Agents

WHEN the Bank of Canada opened its doors in May, 1935, one of the declared functions of the institution was to act as fiscal agent for the Dominion Government and by agreement as banker or fiscal agent for any of the Provincial Governments requiring that service. Fourteen years later the Provinces of Canada still seem to be acting in the main as their own fiscal agents, and pledging their credit in competition with one another on the open bond market. British Columbia, for example, feels pledged because it recently floated an $11,000,000 refunding issue at a cost of 3.23 per cent, compared with 3.25 per cent paid by the Province of Nova Scotia, and so forth.

Since the Bank of Canada has been given very wide powers of note issue, gold reserve discretion and other concessions not open to the chartered banks of Canada and has in the course of time become particularly the fiscal agent of the Dominion Government, one is led to wonder a little why the other [illegible] declared functions has not been called more into use, permission by agreement to help provincial treasuries in their public borrowing. In short, since the Bank of Canada is in a position to influence bond prices in Canada, why have the Provinces not gone there for help with their public loans? There remains a big difference between interest rates paid on national and provincial issues, and the Provinces are still on the low end of that stick.

It requires a deal of optimism to cheer for the relatively low interest rate secured on British Columbia borrowings when those borrowings are in themselves loans to repay other loans and to refund them from a short to a long-term basis. The cheering will come perhaps when the borrowings are not merely being perpetuated, but retired. Even so it seems a pity that the central bank system has not found some means of helping the ten Provinces more directly in this whole matter.

Victoria Needs Practical School Zone Plan

BETWEEN the closing of schools this week and their reopening in September the four municipal councils of Greater Victoria will have an excellent chance to overhaul traffic controls in school zones throughout the area. With its newly created traffic division of the police force and the assistance of the Greater Victoria Traffic Safety Council, the City is in a position to lead the way towards the establishment of a practical system.

A short time ago the City Council authorized replacement of 20 of the present 126 school signs with larger boards, at a cost of $150. That scarcely scratches the surface of an increasingly vexatious problem. It is no exaggeration to say that not more than one motorist in ten now pays any attention to school speed limits when the crossings are not occupied, and among bus drivers the proportion is probably lower.

If the civic authorities are not aware of that they should be.

Who is to blame? Certainly not drivers entirely. Most of them are ready to do the right thing if only they could know what is expected of them. With few exceptions the directions of school traffic patrols are scrupulously observed, but unfortunately the use of these patrols has resulted in a common misconception that when they are not on duty the 15 miles an-hour limit need not be observed. Confusion is heightened by other anomalies, such as zones with signs to mark the beginning and nothing to show where they end, and signs in one municipality differing from those in another.

The obvious need is a uniform plan for the whole area. In the next two months the authorities will have ample time to canvass the subject and to produce a control system that will protect the children and at the same time facilitate the flow of traffic.

Feminine Voters Prefer Men in Parliament

QUITE definitely the women voters of the Dominion prefer the masculine member of parliament to the feminine. This is one of the interesting sidelights of Monday's election upon which reflection may be centred now that the tumult and the shouting has died down. Roughly half the voting strength of the country was at their disposal, yet Canadian women refused to endorse a single feminine candidate.

Some day perhaps someone will write a treatise on this phenomenon, for such in a sense it is. One hears frequently that the destiny of the country, indeed of the world, lies in the hand that rocks the cradle, but apparently that hand is reluctant to intervene directly when Federal elections are held. It could be that women choose to exercise their influence through their menfolk, except that on election day wives are more apt to ask their husbands whom they should vote for, than vice versa.

There may be a psychological factor involved, women may have an ingrained objection to elevating other women above themselves. Perhaps they know their own weaknesses too well to entrust public affairs to their own sex, the exceptions that exist in other realms serving but to prove this thesis. Whatever the basic reason the 14 feminine aspirants for a seat in the House of Commons have no particular cause to thank their fellow women. In the light of the wide and now long-established franchise that is theirs, the failure of the opposite sex to take some advantage of their large number is puzzling at the very least.

Letters to the editor on any topic of genuine interest are welcome if they are brief, accurate and fair. No letter will be inserted in whole or in part, except over the proper signature and address of the writer. Unsolicited correspondence cannot be returned.

WITH FLOWERS

Sir,—I have been in Victoria 8 weeks and would like to take this opportunity of thanking the Canadian people for their great kindness. I arrived here to settle with very mixed feelings, which were dispelled after I had been here a little while. I have been very fortunate inasmuch as I have a wonderful aunt to assist me, but everywhere I have been met with great kindness.

The Welcome Wagon service is wonderful and the stores' kindly welcome letters made us feel we were really wanted here. The warmth, cordiality and hospitality of the Canadian people has to be seen to be believed. I can only add as an Englishwoman that any person who arrives here and cannot settle, that it is their fault entirely. This is a great country with great people.

I thank you.

JOYCE I. BARTOSEWCEZ.

TRADES LICENCES

Sir,—The Saanich Council in its new trades licence by-law seems to have settled for expediency in a probable attempt to hide the actual mill rate.

Under powers of classification granted by a 1948 amendment to the Municipal Act the Saanich Council has decided to classify agricultural and related pursuits in a manner unknown throughout the English-speaking world.

It apparently does not matter that agriculture is agriculture whether carried on under glass or not. All the absurdities in their by-law in so far as they relate to agriculture and related pursuits, have been dealt with by the courts in Canada, Great Britain and the United States of America.

The additional stupidity of loading small operators with heavy fixed operating charges, while paying mouth honor to free enterprise and personal initiative when they are already paying a sales tax on all business they do, is not even considered. A large portion of the sales tax, of course, goes back to the municipalities, with no collection costs.

It is and will be the contention of this association that all agricultural and related activities are subject to the same hazards and uncertainties, and hence anything that applies to one should apply to all. This view is supported by ample legal precedent.

An example [illegible] Trades Licence By-Law will, we think, suffice.

If you raise cabbages and cut off the heads and sell them you do not pay the tax. If you sell the whole plants you do. If you raise bulbs to sell, you do not pay the tax, but if you cut the flowers, you do.

It would seem that under the provisions to the aforementioned amendment to the Municipal Act, that a municipality could classify a housewife as working at her usual occupation and charge her a trade licence of $10 every six months.

Surely the only sensible solution is for the Provincial Legislature to remove this provision from the Municipal Act.

Secretary,

From "Intimations"

Our birth is but a sleep and a forgetting:
The Soul that rises with us, our life's Star,
Hath had elsewhere its setting,
And cometh from afar:
Not in entire forgetfulness,
And not in utter nakedness,
But trailing clouds of glory do we come
From God, who is our home:
Heaven lies about us in our infancy!
Shades of the prison-house begin to close
Upon the growing Boy,
But he beholds the light, and whence it flows,
He sees it in his joy;
The Youth, who daily farther from the east
Must travel, still is Nature's Priest,
And by the vision splendid
Is on his way attended;
At length the Man perceives it die away,
And fade into the light of common day.

Thinking Aloud

of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

I WAS intrigued by the reported thesis of a visiting California professor that reading and writing are on the way out and that in a couple of generations most youngsters won't bother their little heads about these two elementary educational banes.

I was also astounded.

According to the professor we are on the way back to the Middle Ages, when reading and writing was a profession. The [illegible], in fact, has already started.

With all due deference to an educationist who is also a visitor, such a proposition is so fantastic I am inclined to think he was speaking with his tongue in his cheek, or at least with a twinkle in his eye.

In case he was not, however, although heaven forbid.

The professor seems to base his contention on the complaints of teachers everywhere that students of today do not read or spell as well as their predecessors. That I can well believe, if the writing of modern office boys is a criterion, but the answer to this sad state of affairs—dare I suggest it—might lie in the schoolroom itself at the feet of the complaining pedagogues.

A RUDE SHOCK

Certainly it is scarcely because boys and girls don't need to learn to read and write, as the California visitor implies, and if a student ever leaves school with this persuasion uppermost in his mind he is in for an extremely rude shock when he starts looking for a job.

Personally, I've been holding the notion that the need for a knowledge of the first two of the three R's was never more acute than it is today. Unless I completely misread all visible signs of the times, this is a complicated world nowadays, and anyone who can't read or write must be walking around in a perpetual daze. What his fellow illiterate is going to do several decades hence, when the stream of printed instruction that governs our lives has grown into the flood that is obviously in the offing, I shudder to think.

Even to get into the army as a humble private these days you almost have to have a B.A., and somehow I've a feeling no one will ever win a degree unless he can read and write, too. One might get through life comfortably enough although poor at spelling, of course; H. G. Wells, I believe, or it may have been Arnold Bennett, wasn't any too skilful at this art, although they tell me he was able to put words together on paper.

Beyond a spelling allergy, however, I have my doubts.

I'LL NEVER KNOW

Especially when I note the professor's belief that the eye and the ear tend to fill any void that might be caused by dropping the alphabet from the curriculum, presumably via the radio, movies and television. How these diverting adjuncts to modern living, admirable though they be, are by themselves going to teach a law student what Blackstone said, a carpenter to follow a blueprint, a clerk to understand an invoice, a postman to deliver a letter, a Victorian to get on the right bus, a salesgirl to provide the correct size in nylons, a waiter to present a lengthy menu or any one of a thousand daily requirements great and small, including marking a ballot like Canadians did on Monday, I'm sure I'll never know.

Neither, I fancy, does the professor.

He could be right when he says that young people only read what they are assigned to read by their teachers, even though newsstands seem to be full of young people buying magazines both lurid and lyrical, but it's a mistake to draw too long a deduction from this alone, certainly not one reaching all the way back to medieval times.

Just for fun I made a casual check with the public library about the reading habits of Victorians. Strangely enough, perhaps, there is no sign of a recession.

PULLING OUR LEGS

In fact the average number of books taken out last year per subscriber is precisely the same as it was 25 years ago—15. And by all indications the demand for books has kept pace proportionately with the increase in population. If Victoria had the kind of spacious library building a city like this should have to maintain its self-respect indeed, the book borrowing of today would be greater than it is, for there is no room to keep half the books sought by an apparently eager clientele.

There is a distinction, too, that's worth noting. Twenty-five years ago fiction was all the rage, now the emphasis is on biography, technical works, textbooks on practical things, which rather suggests an awareness of a complex age that needs specialized knowledge if it is to be coped with. Which in turn also suggests that the ability to read and write is still of prior importance.

In addition there is a vastly greater call on the reference department than there was a quarter of a century ago. Draw your own conclusions from that.

So I'm afraid there's nothing much there to bolster the professor's idea that when you get to be a great-grandfather you'll be a member of just a limited reading public.

Reading and writing was a profession in the Middle Ages, I doubt not at all. Nowadays we all have to be professionals, however.

The California professor, I suspect, was pulling our legs.

Indonesia Moves Towards Independence

By WILLIAM R. MATHEWS
North American Newspaper Alliance

THE HAGUE.—The government of this country and the people are completely reconciled to the end of the Dutch Empire in the Far East. Dr Han Bonn, undersecretary of foreign affairs and as such the permanent secretary of the foreign office, has made that plain. And my interviews with leaders of the opposition confirm it, because these last admit their only difference with the government is in the speed with which Indonesia is granted independence, and the mistake of dealing with the former Japanese puppet Sukarno.

According to present plans the transfer of sovereignty is due to take place by 1950, and it will be "complete, unconditional and irrevocable." The new government of Indonesia will be a republic known as the United States of Indonesia and will owe no allegiance to the Dutch Crown.

Politically, the most that the Dutch are expecting to work out for themselves is an arrangement similar to that which the United States of America has with the Philippines in which America still gives some advice—but which does not have to be accepted—and is granted military bases as a protection to the new government.

The Dutch hope to establish a Netherlands-Indonesian Union by which the two sovereign nations voluntarily join on an equal basis to work out mutual problems. They express the hope that the Dutch West Indian islands in the Caribbean will be able to join it. They are expected in saying that the rule of "colonialism" from The Hague is coming to an end and that the new Indonesian Government will be completely independent and sovereign.

* * *

Economically the Dutch expect to retain and increase their investment and development activity. They expect the new government to join the United Nations and agree to its obligations which the Dutch assume will help protect their investments from confiscation.

The United States of Indonesia will be a federation of states made up of the present Republic of Indonesia and the other federated states and dependencies of the archipelago now under control of the Dutch Government. Those parts that do not want to join will not be compelled to, while primitive areas, such as the Dutch part of New Guinea will remain under the Dutch Government.

Steps now are under way to convene the first round table conference at The Hague for the target date of July 15. At this conference, the authorized representatives of the various [illegible] will meet with the Dutch, set up the principle of a sovereign state and settle political ties with the mother country.

All plans call for the establishment of a democratic federal government, in which the rights of the states will occupy a distinct place. Dr Bonn said the widespread differences in literacy and customs of the many different tribes and the vast distances in the 3,000 mile stretch of the archipelago made them separate states. But he said it is clear that the various states were having difficulty over choosing their representatives to the round-table conference and deciding the kind of [illegible] they would satisfy.

The Dutch point out that present plans of the Indonesian government call for Indonesia's representation which by including Communists will set up legal machinery by which Communists could seize power the way they have in Rumania, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Czecho-Slovakia and Poland. They hope to prevent such a seizure by their own influence, help from the United States and the presence of their own troops in strategic areas.

The Dutch count upon America's interest in the Philippines to win them support in any action they might have to take to prevent the Communists from seizing power once Indonesian independence has become a reality.

Britain's Production Costs

(From The Economist, London)

FOR ten years low costs and money matters have not really mattered. But it is becoming clearer every day that the fat years are over and that the lean years are coming when costs and prices will matter very much. Where costs impinge most urgently on public policy is in exports and particularly in exports to the dollar area.

The dollar prices at which British goods are quoted could be lowered by an alteration in the exchange value of the pound sterling. But it would be very rash to draw much comfort from this prospect, for unless the causes that lead to high costs of production in Britain are removed, any relief that could be secured by devaluation would be purely temporary. Nor, of course, would any such exchange adjustment help British exports in competition with the goods of other non-dollar countries.

It would be a mistake, however, to think that British costs in the export trade that British costs and prices are too high. British industry is in danger of pricing itself out of its own markets as well as other peoples'. In the mass markets of today success depends upon the same sort of people who make the goods being able to buy them. But there is a wide range of British industries where that is no longer possible.

Before the war, the ownership of motor vehicles had extended a long way down the social scale, at present prices, motor vehicles would be a luxury for the few even if they were freely available.

The costs of building have risen so high that before the ordinary family can live in a new house it needs a subsidy equal to roughly half the cost.

The beginning of wisdom in this matter is to recognize that high costs of production cannot be blamed on this or that piece of folly committed by this or that section of the community. Britain is a high-cost producer because virtually all sections of opinion—certainly capital, labor and government—have not for many long years paid any attention to reducing costs of production. Everybody has acted as if costs did not matter, with the result that they have come to matter very much indeed.

A motorist traveling through the Ozarks marveled at the way the natives cultivated the steep hills. As he drove along a rugged highway, a man came tumbling down a cliff on to the road.

"That's the fifth time today I've fallen out of that field," said the native.

"Why do you bother to work such a steep hill?" asked the motorist.

Well, explained the native, I plant that field in melons, and in the Fall when they're ripe I love the way they come rolling down the ridge into my yard and up to my door."

World's champion sales resister is a garage proprietor in Illinois. He was saying "No" to a fire extinguisher salesman the other day when a car crashed into one of his petrol pumps and burst into flames.

The salesman turned his fire extinguisher on it. In a moment the fire was out. The salesman got ready to book his order.

But, no! The proprietor asked why should he waste his money? He'd had his fire, it had been put out, and by the law of averages he shouldn't have another for years.

Observation Car: By G. B.

BARBER Ben arrived at the shop bearing visible signs of a late night. We should remember the old saying, Late to bed and early to rise makes a man stupid, and ruins his eyes. He's quite right. You should remember the other which runs, Those who hand out free advice are no good nor very nice," Ben retorted. "It is now my turn." Bill, the Broad Street barber, interjected.

Argue less and live to smile and we'll be happy for a while. A tiny black and brown dachshund has made friends with a postman, who delivers mail on Vancouver Street in Fairfield. It accompanies him from door to door, and promptly turns around and skitters home when they reach the intersection of Southgate Street. The loud and nasty mill hum carried by the southwest breeze across the city until the early hours of morning should be investigated under the heading of a public nuisance. It has kept many Victorians from sleep for several months.

Councils of this city and Oak Bay showed singular lack of foresight years ago in not reserving land between Marine Drive and the sea. The waterfront drive has been a great tourist attraction to islanders and a source of joy to citizens who never tire of the restless ocean and view of the stately Olympic Mountains. Much of the seascape has been shut out by an almost solid wall of houses between Ross Bay and Shoal Bay. More of the view is being obscured by new dwellings in Uplands district. Bungling men are too prone to dismiss natural beauty with a shrug.

Looking Back

From the Colonist Files

25 YEARS AGO—A total of 31 carloads of Vancouver Island strawberries have been shipped to the Prairies this season by the Gordon Head and Saanich Fruitgrowers' Association.

50 YEARS AGO—The Northern Pacific liner Glenogle arrived yesterday with the first of the season's tea to cross the Pacific. Three other liners are expected from the Orient today.

85 YEARS AGO—An observatory is about to be constructed in the gaol yard under the superintendence of Dr Walker. The necessary instruments are already in the possession of the Government.

Local shipping firms, particularly C.P.R., were pleased yesterday to see that final dredging operations within Inner Harbor had started. Clearing of rocks pictured above will ensure 3 more feet of harbor depth. They were created as a result of blasting operations aimed at that goal. Rocks removed by suction dredge will be deposited in Portage Inlet, it is expected. Harbor is scheduled to be completely dredged early this year. Clearing of rocks will be done in the next two months.

DiMaggio's Homer Spotlights Return

The major league baseball spotlight was on Joe DiMaggio as the New York Yankees got their "Clipper" back in the lineup after a 13-month absence and he responded by hitting a home run in the first game of a doubleheader with Chicago White Sox at New York. The Yankees won both games, 5-4 and 3-2.

DiMaggio was accorded a big hero welcome by the 38,000 fans who jammed the park to see the game. He batted in the winning run in the first game with a single in the fifth inning after Phil Rizzuto had been walked intentionally to get to the Yankee star. In the second game he hit a home run with two on base in the first inning to give the Yankees a 3-0 lead.

Returning Ted Williams' 8s with the batting run on base to shatter the record of over 36,000 Boston fans. Hank Bauer's three-run homer in the second accounted for the other Yankee tally.

At Washington, Ales Kellner won his own game and the 11th victory of the season for the Red Sox by pitching a two-hit shutout against the Yanks, beating the Senators 6-1.

A crowd of 60,000 at Cleveland saw Bob Lemon come to the relief of Gene Bearden in the ninth inning and pitch the Indians to victory as the Indians downed Detroit Tigers, 4-2.

Brooklyn Dodgers retained their game lead over St. Louis Cardinals in the National League by edging Philadelphia Phillies 5-3 on Duke Snider's 12th homer with a man on in the seventh. Jerry Hoover pitched the Cards to a 5-0 triumph over Chicago Cubs.

Curt Hartung was the whitewash boy as New York Yankees' pitchers blanked Boston Braves, 2-1. He tossed a three-hitter at the Braves and won the game with a homer in the fifth. Sid Gordon homered in the fourth for the other Giants' run.

Next game, Thursday, Foul Bay vs. Tillicums.

Joker stickmen drew up to a second place tie with Tillicums by registering an easy 8-3 victory over the Clubmen in last night's box lacrosse game at Stevenson Park.

ANDREWS STARRY

Tillicums whipped their passes smartly and held a good share of the play, but found Joker goalie Bill Andrews practically unbeatable. The big netminder held opposing marksmen to single tallies in the first, second and final quarter, and shut the door completely in the third period.

Larry Booth of Jokers had one of his better nights and fired four goals, all in the second half, to pace the scoring. Goalie Ellis matched a Joker counter early in the opening canto and Art Green made it 1-1 just as the period ended. Tillicums went ahead on Green's second goal, but markers by Bill Cunningham and Ralph Temple gave winners the edge at halftime.

Booth's first two goals were the only ones during the third frame (and left the count stood 3-2 in favor of Jokers). Tillicums tied the count in the third and fourth quarters and Temple added his second to round out the scores.

The Pee Wee League preliminary between Joker Golds and Fernwood Whites ended in a 3-3 tie. Harry Conner, Darrel Metz and Dave Simpson scored for Golds while goals came from Ron Bridle, Denny Shaw and Bob Cudlipp.

Line-ups:

Jokers: Andrews, McMillan, A. Booth, Temple 2, Joyce, I. Booth 4, Ellis 1, Ranks, Cunningham 1, Scroggie, Rhodes, Fellow, Brown, Read. Total, 8.

Tillicums: Long, Henderson, J. Bamford, Lawrence, Mason, Green 2, Reid, Ritchie, G. Bamford, Curry, Popham, Coates 1, Rourke. Total, 3.

New Zealand Gains Draw With O.C. XI

LONDON, June 28 (Reuters)—The Hedley Verity memorial test match between New Zealand and England ended tamely today in a draw, but the New Zealanders chalked up two records.

Batting first on a fast wicket at Headingley, Leeds, the visitors declared in the first innings. New Zealand then rolled up 484 runs, giving them a lead this morning of 151 runs on the first innings. But the home team made a success of following on for five wickets in the second innings.

New Zealand's score of 484 was the highest they have ever made in a test match, topping the previous showing of 479 for nine declared, against England at Leeds in 1941. Martin Donnelly batted brilliantly to score 206 runs before he was caught. It was the highest individual score in test matches between the two countries.

The first test match at Leeds also ended in a draw.

Two weeks ago, Brentwood Aces were resting in the Senior "A" Men Softball League cellar. Then they started to live up to advance notices as a winning attack and took a tight hold on second place. But last night they met the undefeated Douglas Tire nine and their advance was temporarily halted.

Aces mauled Tiremen's six hurlers for 14 hits and were never headed in the nine-inning game. Ken Gunter pitched for Aces and Douglas Tire used three separate hurlers. Vic Hoar, Ken Gunter and Ken Gardner each had good days at the plate for Aces with Hoar getting three hits in four trips to the dish.

Jim McKenzie led off with a triple for Tiremen in the second and scored the first run of the game as Lloyd Garrett grounded out. Garrett hit a terrific home run to deep centre, scoring Don Robinson ahead of him to provide the winning runs as the Brentwood Aces had tied the count in the third and John Purvis' single in the bottom of the fourth. Aussies Surprise, Upset In Wimbledon Doubles

By BILL MACKLIN

LONDON, June 28 (CP)—Two [illegible] doubles teams were knocked out of the Wimbledon tennis championships today in a pair of [illegible] upsets.

John Bromwich and Frank Sedgman, the second-seeded defending champions from Australia, bowed to Budge Patty of Los Angeles and Eric Sturgess of South Africa, 6-8, 6-3, 7-5, 3-6, 6-3.

Fourth-seeded Bob Falkenburg of Beverly Hills, Cal., and Jaroslav Drobny of Czecho-Slovakia fell before an all-Australian tandem, Geoff Brown and Billy Sidwell, 6-3, 3-6, 7-5, 6-8, 8-6.

Top seeded American doubles combinations came through to the semi-finals on schedule as the heat wave continued and tennis matched its 87-degree warmth.

Pancho Gonzales and Frankie Parker of Los Angeles crushed the Italian Davis-cuppers, Gianni Cucelli and Marcello Del Bello, 6-3, 6-2, 6-3.

Mrs. Pat Todd of La Jolla, Cal., and Mrs. Hazel Pedersen Prosser, of Boston, repeated their 1947 upset victory to gain the women's doubles semi-finals.

Mrs. Todd beat Mrs. Jean Walker-Smith, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3. Miss Ramsay paired to defeat Mrs. Peggy Dawson-Scott of London, 7-5, 7-5.

BY POPULAR REQUEST

In answer to popular demand, the Wimbledon committee announced that tomorrow's quarter-final doubles match featuring Gussie Moran and her partner, Mrs. Todd against Patsy Reisers and Mrs. Walker-Smith of Britain has been transferred to the centre court.

There had been so many inquiries from fans as to where they could watch Gussie perform in her famous lace panties that the committee decided the thing was too good for an outside court.

5 IN MEMORIAM

BENSON—In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Annie Mae Benson, who left us June 29, 1948.

Her thoughts were all so full of us
She never could forget
And so we think that where she is
She must be sweeping yet.

The angels keep their watch up there,
Please God but so do we,
That we may meet dear mother,
We love and miss her so.

—Sadly missed by husband Lorne and daughter Lorna.

RICHMOND—In loving memory of Harry Richmond, who passed away June 29, 1934.

There is a link death cannot sever
Love and remembrance last forever.

—Sadly missed and ever remembered by his loving wife Zena, daughter Ruth and son Lee.

Uncertain Destiny

By BETTY WEBB

Diane caught her arm savagely. "Don't be a little fool, Linda. You know it's Steve you love. Why not admit it before you ruin your life?"

"My life is already ruined," Linda cried angrily. "It's time I began to undo all the wrongs I've committed."

"And I suppose by marrying Greg, you'll be undoing your wrong?" Diane was bitter.

Linda ached to tell the other girl the truth—to admit that she had no idea of marrying Greg, that Steve Baridon was the only man she could ever admire and love. Instead, she shrugged lightly. No one must know until Steve was free to make his choice, and then it would be too late to matter.

After she had gone, Diane stared perplexedly through the window. She was ill at ease, worried over Linda. "It was all my fault," she told herself bitterly. "I was so cynical, so woman-of-the-worldish! Linda is trying now to be like me. If only she knew how empty my world really is! There must be some way to bring Linda back to her senses—break down that wall of reserve between her and Steve that will make them realize how foolish they've been!"

That evening Linda looked lovely and sophisticated, clad in a gown of black tulle. She had learned to be gay and vivacious with Greg, to cover by laughter the dull void in her heart. Her future seemed destined for heartache, but tonight Linda was determined to forget the past and future—to live only for the moment at hand.

Dancing and dining with Greg, she tried to ignore the dangerous gleam in his eyes, tried to evade caressing hands and ardent phrases, but in vain. Linda knew with a sinking heart that she could not evade things much longer. Greg was not a child, but a man—spoiled, demanding, undoubtedly dangerous when crossed.

This was the night, Linda foresaw, when Greg would force the issue and demand an answer to his ardent proposal. For the moment, however, Linda was recklessly indifferent, trying futilely to substitute any abandon for the void in her heart. She was dancing in Greg's arms when suddenly she caught sight of a familiar blonde head and faltered.

Brenda! Quickly her eyes flew to the model's companion, half fearful of what she might see, but, surprisingly, it was Jerry Coleman. Linda drew a breath of relief. With them were Steve's sister, Mary and her husband, Philip. Linda knew Brenda had seen her and said something to Mary, because the girl's eyes were reproachful.

Linda smiled automatically at her sister-in-law, but the other girl, after staring at her for a moment, turned her head to reply to Brenda. Linda flushed with hurt surprise. With that icy rebuff, Mary had made her own viewpoint clear. She, too, was on Brenda's side!

Following a reckless impulse, Linda headed for the table where Brenda and her companions sat, Greg protesting beneath his breath as he followed her. Linda scarcely heard him, and saying cheerily:

"Good evening, everyone. Haunting the nightspots, I see."

Jerry and Philip rose, but while their eyes were warm with sympathy as though they, alone, realized Linda's bravado was false, Mary eyed the girl coldly, as Linda talked freely, scarcely knowing what she said:

"So you and Jerry are following the Hollywood custom of remaining good friends in spite of your divorce," she said lightly. "Isn't it rather awkward, Brenda?"

"Brenda is leaving for the South," Mary said pointedly, "and asked Philip and me to bring her here to see Jerry in regard to some last-minute financial matters, before she leaves."

Linda was temporarily quieted by this remark. She felt like a naughty child that has just been punished. Then, impulsively, she pulled up a chair and sat down beside Jerry. Greg followed suit, and Linda said gaily, "This calls for a celebration—all of us together."

"All of us?" Brenda's drawl was low and amused. "Come, Linda, you haven't forgotten one of us is missing. The most important one—I should say."

Linda colored, knowing to whom Brenda had referred. She closed her eyes for a moment. As if she could forget Steve—even for a moment. When she looked at Brenda, she was once more in control of her emotions.

"Important?" she queried, lightly. "I dare say, you'll speak for yourself, Brenda."

Suddenly Mary was on her feet, glowering at Linda with smouldering eyes. "Please," she said coldly. "If you must insist on joining our party, I suggest you have the decency to refrain from mentioning my brother's name. He can't possibly hold any interest for you—now!"

Mary blushed, surprised by her outburst. It was so unlike her to say anything unkind that Linda realized how deeply hurt Mary was.

Philip patted Linda's hand lightly. "Please—" he said kindly, "you mustn't let Mary upset you, Linda. She isn't feeling very well, and I'm sure she didn't mean all she said."

Linda laughed merrily. "Of course, I realize Mary didn't mean it. Did you, darling?"

She meant to antagonize Mary, and did. That touch of flippancy, that indifference in her manner brought forth results.

"Yes, I meant everything I said," Mary answered coldly. "I—I hate you, Linda. I hate you!"

CHAPTER XXVIII

Following Mary's bitter words, there was a breathless silence. Linda regarded her sister-in-law in aching silence, longing to confess her love for Steve. Then, feeling Brenda's eyes turned on her triumphantly, she laughed:

"It is exciting, isn't it! And rather confusing, I'll admit, to be trading husbands and sweethearts with such abandon. Jerry, suppose you relieve the so-called situation by dancing with me?"

For a moment she was afraid that Brenda's former husband would refuse, but while Brenda and Mary stared in silence, Jerry rose, bowed gallantly, and said:

"It would be a pleasure, Linda."

In his arms, Linda closed her eyes, swaying to the slow dance rhythm, but they had scarcely moved three steps before Jerry regarded her soberly, his face almost stern.

"Why are you behaving like this, Linda?" he asked. "It isn't like you to be so artificial, so shallow."

With a tired sigh, Linda let her head rest on his broad shoulder. "I'm so tired," she whispered softly. "You're the only one who's been kind to me, Jerry. You're the only one who—who understands."

"I understand a great many things," Jerry said. "For instance, I know you're putting up a wonderful bluff because you're scared silly that Brenda will take Steve away from you. You're trying to show everyone that you don't care. Isn't that true?"

Closes Long, Active Career

After 41 years' service with B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd.—34 years of which saw him as editor of popular leaflet bulletin Buzzer—Tom Myers will retire tomorrow afternoon. Special presentation ceremony has been arranged for 4:45 p.m. in Langley Street building of company.

"Buzzer" Author Retires After 34 Years on Job

Thirty-four years and about 1,500,000 typewritten words ago Tom Myers was seated at a typewriter hammering out the first edition of what has become one of the most popular little bulletins known to the people of Greater Victoria.

What street car rider of the past, or bus patron of the present, has not seen and read the "Buzzer?" The interesting leaflet has appeared every Monday morning in B.C. Electric transit vehicles for the past 34 years. It was Tom—as he is known to his host of friends—who was responsible.

Tomorrow Tom will bid farewell to his typewriter and his office, located in the Langley Street building of the company. He will retire on pension after faithful service with the company for 41 years.

He will be honored at a special presentation ceremony to be held tomorrow at 4:45 p.m. E. W. Arpott, vice-president of the company, will speak on behalf of all B.C. Electric employees who have come to know the Buzzer author over many past years.

With a host of ideas and expressions which kept the Buzzer at all times popular and envied by similar companies elsewhere, Tom told—in capsule form—the story of a public service in relation to the community.

After leaving Durham University in England, choice took him to the teaching profession. His first job with the B.C. Electric was that of a gas department helper . . . a job he assumed after having a difference of opinion with an inspector of schools about the curriculum that was suitable for the lusty, lumbering town of Fernie where he taught in 1907.

"Forty-one years ago the word 'helper' meant just that, and Tom recalls that his duties at the gas plant included pumping tar, trimming coal and quenching the red-hot clinkers which fell from the hand-fired furnaces in the days when gas was measured for its candle power rather than for its B.T.U. value.

He transferred to the company's accounting section at the Langley Street building when it was a one-floor office, and later was placed in charge of payrolls.

When the company moved into the appliance merchandising field Tom was made director of commercial advertising and publicity—positions he has held for the past 34 years. He served for 30 years as secretary-treasurer of the B.C.E.R. Employees' (Island Division) Benefit Association. In addition, he holds active membership with the Rotary Club, Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, and the British Empire Club. He has served on the directorate of each organization.

And like most interesting people, Tom is an ardent hobbyist. First comes music, with a life-long interest in piano, pipe organ and choir directing. Next is his liking for boating and fishing . . . both of which hold an important place in his retirement plans.

Judgment Held In Claim For Payment

Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane yesterday reserved judgment on an $11,328 suit by McKay Cormack Ltd., to collect for balance they claimed was owing from Capt. W. B. Holms for conversion of the R.C.A.F. tender Butter Ball to the motor-sailer Menita.

David Sigler, Vancouver, appearing in Supreme Court for the shipbuilders, claimed his company in billing Holms for $27,478 for the job were charging a reasonable rate and that Capt. Holms should be called on to pay the remaining $11,328.

R. D. Harvey, K.C., speaking for Capt. Holms, said the $16,000 Capt. Holms has already paid was $6,000 over the first estimate the company gave and added that it left money over to pay off the $1,976 in Federal Sales Tax and $800 in Provincial Social Security Tax.

Big Circus Train Arrives To Unload Varied Magic

Grandpop or toddler, you're bound to find thrills and excitement waiting for you under the Big Top as it mushrooms over Victoria West Park today.

Under the dancing eyes of hundreds of eager youngsters the big Dailey Bros.' five-ring circus rolled into town this morning and began [illegible] magic.

Railroad officials said last night the circus train would be unloaded at the Russell Street crossing in Victoria West. It was due to arrive in the city at 7 a.m.

From the Russell Street crossing, trucks, tractors, wagons and animals will proceed to the show grounds at Victoria West Park, where the circus will exhibit twice daily for three days.

At the park crews of men and boys will hurriedly begin pitching the huge tent city which houses the world's second largest circus. Nearly 20 tents are included in the big layout of assorted shelters. Biggest tent is the giant six-pole big-top, a canvas mammoth weighing more than ten tons. The Dailey Bros.' big-top is the longest exhibition tent on tour with any circus today. It contains the heavy rigging, electric lights, seats for the public, a hippodrome track, a bandstand and other properties.

Circus features this year include a herd of 25 elephants, star of which is "Little Butch," the smallest baby elephant in the Western Hemisphere; trained lions; the world's only performing polar bears; a Wild West show; trapeze artists; and an army of capering clowns.

Heading the Wild West event is Doug Autry, star of stage and radio and brother of the famed cowboy star, Gene Autry. Mr. Autry will be seen in person at each performance.

This morning the circus will send a brightly-painted calliope wagon through the downtown streets.

Circus performances are scheduled to be held twice daily, at 3 p.m. and 8 p.m., in Victoria West Park, today, Thursday and Friday.

The bank across the street . . .

DID YOU EVER notice how often banks do business right across the street from their competitors? Of course it happens because of competition . . . because each bank tries to get into the busiest locations in town.

That certainly doesn't make things very easy for us! There are 10 chartered banks in Canada, all operating under government regulation, and with roughly the same services to sell. So the only way we can stay in business is to be on our toes at all times. That means keeping modern premises, hiring efficient, pleasant personnel, making loans wherever it is to our mutual advantage, and performing a lot of little extra services that we hope will make you like us better than the fellow across the street.

Frankly, we like it that way. Competitive banking keeps us from getting stodgy, and provides you with freedom of choice and an all-round better banking system.

Trustees at Ladysmith Adopt Salary Schedule

LADYSMITH, June 28.—A basic salary schedule proposed at the Mid-Island branch meeting of the British Columbia School Trustees' Association to apply to all member boards, was endorsed by trustees of Ladysmith School District No. 67. The schedule would give elementary teachers a $1,600 minimum and $2,000 maximum, and secondary teachers, $2,000 minimum and $3,500 maximum, with annual increments of $120. Governing clauses will be drafted and agreed upon between individual boards and teachers.

The schedule is an effort to standardize a basic salary rate throughout the Island from Cowichan Lake to Campbell River.

Reporting on the Mid-Island meeting, Trustee C. C. Jones said it was one of the best ever held. Those named as delegates to the British Columbia School Trustees' Association convention at Qualicum Beach in September were Trustees Jones and James Reed.

A report of the building committee submitted by Trustee Raymond Berod was accepted in full and endorsed by the board. It covered an expenditure of $4,463 for construction and repairs to the Diamond and North Oyster Schools, including installation of an electric pump, fluorescent lights, and hard-surfacing the remainder of Chemainus School grounds. Another $2,737 will be expended for furniture and equipment.

Mrs. Leonard Hawkins, a delegate from the Ladysmith Parent-Teacher Association, approached the board regarding disposition of a quantity of books by the exchange bureau operated by the association for the past two years. A letter to the department of education had suggested referring the matter to the school board. Trustee Jones pointed out the board was not responsible for distribution of books to students, referring to the new rental plan introduced by the Department of Education.

The secretary-treasurer will be responsible only for money collected from rentals. In order to assist the association in the matter, the secretary was instructed to write to the department regarding the books available through the exchange bureau of the P.-T.A. Mrs. Hawkins thanked the board for its assistance.

There will be an open class and a "B" class for power saws under eight horsepower, with $50 in prizes.

Eliminations for the latter class will start at 1 p.m. A hand-bucking contest for women, subject to at least three entries, with $40 in prizes was also approved.

It was announced that the Western Horsemen's Club of Victoria would give a performance of precision drill on horseback between the Odeon Theatre and Highway Hill. Horsemen will also take part in the parade.
